

U. S. RAIL PEACE PLAN FAILS

MAHON ARRIVES TODAY TO ACT IN CAR DISPUTE

Union Chiefs Take Gloomy View.

William D. Mahon, international president of the street car men's union, will arrive in Chicago late today "to see what can be done" in the present strike crisis.

The sentiment around union headquarters yesterday afternoon was that his coming will have little effect other than possibly to postpone the calling of the walkout until some time next week. On the other hand, traction officials see in his arrival a revival of hope for a peaceful settlement of the war controversy.

Mahon, immediately upon his arrival, will go into conference with William Gorman, president, and other officials of the local union at the Briggs House, where union headquarters will be established during the crisis. Following his meeting with the executive board of the union comprised of thirty-two members. This board already has given its sanction to a strike.

Then Will Meet Blair.

These conferences may be continued until tomorrow and it is likely that no new negotiations—should such be decided upon—will be entered into with Henry A. Blair, president of the Chicago Surface Lines, before Monday. After sounding out the sentiment of the union leaders here, however, President Mahon may meet with Mr. Blair earlier if a conference can be arranged.

While the bylaws of the international union seemingly make arbitration obligatory, indications last night were that any settlement reached would be more apt to be effected through direct negotiations between the company and the union.

Thirty Day Notice Obstacle.

In whatever negotiations follow the bone of contention promises to be that of a "thirty days' notice clause" in the wage contract. This is held to be of even more importance by the employees than wages and working conditions, and it is the one point upon which the company indicates it will stand pat.

Mr. Blair incorporated a provision for thirty days' notice of a change in wages in both proposals he submitted. The union demands that a fixed wage be guaranteed for one year.

Mr. Blair contends it is impossible to give such a guarantee when the company is unable to obtain such a guarantee relative to changes in fare rates from the Illinois commerce commission or the courts. No such guarantee can be given by the commission because, under the law, any taxpayer can go before that body at any time and ask for a revision of rates.

Union Against Arbitration.

If it were not for this thirty days' notice stumbling block both the company officials and the union heads believe an amicable adjustment of wages and working conditions could be secured.

Sentiment in the local union is strongly opposed to arbitration, although in the last arbitration proceedings in 1915 the men were given an award containing even better terms than they had asked for. That settlement was terminated by the city hall, however, and now it is on the other side of the fence.

The present feeling of street car men's unions against arbitration was evidenced in Cincinnati a few days ago where the employees, after submitting the matter to arbitration, withdrew from the proceedings and accepted the wage offer offered by the company. The Cincinnati union was not as strongly organized, however, as are the Chicago organizations, which have been in existence for twenty years or more.

How Quinlan Views It.

"To sign an agreement containing a thirty days' notice clause is like signing a thirty day contract," said President Quinlan. "As to what action will be taken depends upon what suggestions Mahon has to offer. This is more than a one man job, however. It is a job in which some 15,000 men have a voice. We will gladly entertain any proposals the international makes and will take any steps they suggest towards a settlement, but the final word must be with our own executive board and the rank and file."

That George B. Arnold, director of the state department of labor, plans to follow out the course suggested by the union council's office and Mayor Thompson was indicated when Mr. Arnold wrote the mayor asking use of his council chambers in which to hold an investigation should a strike be called. It is likely his request will be granted. This is regarded as a step toward the seizure of the lines by the city if a tieup comes.

ALLEN ORDERS WHITE'S ARREST OUT IN KANSAS

Editor Must Answer for Posters.

Topeka, Kas., July 20.—Gov. Henry J. Allen tonight authorized the arrest of William Allen White, editor of the Emporia Gazette, for alleged violation of the anti-picketing provision of the Kansas Industrial court, and issued a statement. The warrant probably will be issued tomorrow.

White and Allen have been "pale" from youth and the state is again over the split between the two. They were boon companions at Armageddon, veterans of sanguinary assaults upon strongholds of predatory interests.

Brother adventurers on the strife-torn fields of France, torn asunder at last by that child of one and god-son of the other—the "Industrial court law."

White had carried placards in the Gazette windows supporting the railway shopmen's strike. He also carried a front page editorial in the Gazette on Wednesday, daring Gov. Allen to prosecute him for advocating the cause of the striking railroad employees.

Allen States His Case.

Thus it came about that the governor has authorized White's arrest and has issued a statement in which he says:

"The Kansas Court of Industrial Relations has prohibited a strike in an essential industry. It pledges the power of the state to the protection of the public against the cessation of any of these industries. The act declares that any man who wishes to work shall not be molested in the exercise of that right."

"It declares that every form of picketing is a part of the conspiracy to deprive the public of transportation."

"When the shop crafts walked out in Kansas, their leaders tried various forms of picketing, but were deterred from putting any of their picketing plans into effect."

Program of Posters.

"Having failed in all their other plans, two days ago the strike leaders inaugurated a new program. They provided themselves with large white cards containing a declaration of sympathy for the strikers and a hope that they would win the strike. The committee called upon merchants in two or three shop towns and insisted upon the merchants placing these cards in their windows. This plan was for the purpose of creating an atmosphere of hostility toward those who were continuing to work."

"The attorney general ruled that this well organized action on the part of the shopmen and their friends constituted a part of the conspiracy to deprive the public of transportation."

No Arrests Had Been Ordered.

"Upon this request of the governor and the attorney general, most of the merchants took down these cards, and the city governments in the various places reported that the cards would all come down. No arrests had yet been ordered for this offense, as it was thought that the law abiding business people of the state who were aiding in this form of inducement would desert from it."

"William Allen White of Emporia, who has been one of the strike sympathizers from the beginning, is the first man to defy openly the law officers in this matter and to declare his intention to display the slogan of the strike leaders in his shop window and to continue this form of encouragement to the men who are now violating the law of the state."

"Mr. White is a man with a potent voice."

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

LONDON, July 20.—The war was blamed for the unconventionalities and indiscretions of the modern flappers by the counsel for the respondent in the Russell divorce suit today, who said: "The war had a curious effect on girls' habits, but not on their morals." And he contrasted the young women of today with the "inspired girls of Thackeray."

Mrs. Zira Lang, a character witness for Christabel Russell, said: "I would sleep in the same car compartment as a man if no other places were available, unless I felt out of the train."

She blamed American dancing styles for Mrs. Russell one stepping with the "divine dancer Lionel Cross cheek to cheek," but said it was no longer fashionable to do this.

ARREST VILLAGE MAYOR, SON, COPS

Highway Police Flee Mob with Thornton Men.

County highway policemen last night arrested the president of the board of trustees of Thornton township, his son, and two peace officers, faced a threatening mob of villagers, who clamored for the release of the prisoners, and reached the Evanston jail after averting a tendency toward serious disorder.

Those arrested were John L. Bieffeldt, mayor of Thornton; Raymond Bieffeldt, Jailer Frank Wiederman, and Special Policeman Henry Herring.

Two Charges Against Mayor.

They were charged with assault and battery, the outgrowth of a clash between highway policemen and citizens on July 9 following the arrest of young Bieffeldt on a charge of violating the dimmer law. Mayor Bieffeldt is charged also with aiding a prisoner to escape, his son having eluded the highway officers during the fracas.

The arrests were made by Sergeant Harry Goldstone and Ely Kuhn, and Highway Policemen H. A. Denman and George Rink, on warrants issued by Justice of the Peace Nazareth Barsumian of Evanston. When Sergeant Kuhn took Mayor Bieffeldt into custody, the former is alleged to have struck him twice in the face.

Mob Threatens.

Thornton is about forty miles south of Evanston and has a population of approximately 3,000 persons. A mob of the villagers, estimated at 150, surrounded the highway police automobile and shouted threats of violence against Goldstone, Kuhn, Denman and Rink.

Sergeant Goldstone and Kuhn informed the mob members that they "would not draw guns unless it was necessary to shoot," and gave an ultimatum that arrests would be made unless the crowd immediately dispersed.

The prisoners were first taken to Evanston and later removed to the Glen View jail pending their release on bail. They will be arraigned this morning before Justice Barsumian.

On July 9 Highway Policemen H. A. Denman, son of Mal Denman, who commands the highway forces, and Thomas Anderson, arrested young Bieffeldt for driving with bright lights.

They were "ganged" by friends of Bieffeldt and lost track of him in the fight that followed. Mayor Bieffeldt fled a charge of disorderly conduct against Anderson several days later.

PIRATES SLAY MOTOR SKIPPER OFF FLORIDA

Miami, Fla., July 20.—The converted auxiliary schooner William H. Albury was held up by motorboat pirates off Gun Key late this afternoon and her master, Capt. Edgcomb, shot dead on deck, according to a wireless message from Bimini picked from the Miami beach radio station tonight.

The message said the Albury was held up by men in a motor boat bearing the name Falcon and license number V-1454. The Falcon escaped and the Albury headed for Bimini, where the body of the captain was taken off. An investigation was immediately begun from here. The Albury has been in the Nassau-Jamaica trade for some time. It was said tonight.

"Dead," He Comes Alive as Barber Trims His Hair

Edinburgh, Ill., July 20.—Andrew Kmas, residing in Mason, "died" one day this week and came to life while the barber was trimming his hair, preparatory to burial, according to reports reaching here.

Mrs. Kmas was directing Frank Gillespie, a barber, to have Mr. Kmas' hair trimmed so he would appear most natural, when Kmas opened his eyes. He shook hands with the barber and the hair trimming was finished with Kmas sitting propped up in bed. Kmas trimmed his mustache after Gillespie finished the hair trimming job.

Kmas, who is a sufferer from rheumatism, had been pronounced dead by a physician, it is said.

SENATORS' PLEAS VAIN; HARDING FOR COAL BOARD

President Promises Lines Stand Pat on Seniority and Pension Rights.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., July 20.—(Special.)—The appointment within a few days of a federal commission to deal with the issues in the coal strike, coupled with a demand that miners and operators submit to its authority, and that the miners return to work pending the outcome of its deliberations, was forecast tonight when telegraphic correspondence between President Harding and Gov. William C. Sprout of Pennsylvania, was made public at the White House.

The one thing holding this plan back is the President's wish to see whether work is resumed under the plan recently proposed to the governors.

When the commission is named the President indicated it will be composed solely of representatives of the public and would be vested with extensive authority. The original commission proposed by the President would have been composed of three representatives of the operators, three of the miners and five representing the public.

Wants Commission Soon.

Gov. Sprout wired that he hoped Mr. Harding was delaying appointment of a commission only until it could be decided whether adequate production would follow the program announced by the administration. The governor added:

"If this does not occur within a reasonable time, I respectfully urge the prompt creation of your commission, either as originally proposed or in modified form."

"Matters are temporarily in suspension," the President said, "because when arbitration was denied there was but one consistent thing to do as I saw it, and that was to invite production. You may expect the selection of a commission, because American welfare will not permit those who assume to serve it to deny for any reason the supply of such a necessity as fuel, and thereby jeopardize American life and health and happiness."

Third Part Most Important.

"Moreover, there was a third party to submit its case to the commission—the great American republic. The primary object was the prompt and just ending of a dispute. The broader purpose was a searching inquiry into the coal industry, to learn all the causes of dispute and find a way to avoid them in the future."

It may be desirable to modify the form of the commission as originally proposed, because it was first designed to meet most promptly the exigency then existing. I wished a settlement at the conference table where all could be heard and all be represented on the commission."

It has seemed to me that time to appraise the situation, the opportunity to measure the unquestioned fairness of the proposal, and sense the obligations involved, and a period in which to resume production, would either avoid drastic steps on the one hand or clearly justify them on the other."

"The commission will come in due time. There is an authority above all workers and operators and that authority—the American public—must have an agency of effective expression."

Hints Illegal Act of Strikers.

Attorney General Daugherty announced the department of justice is observing the developments in the coal and railway strike situations to ascertain whether or not there is any illegal connection between the two strikes.

The first steps toward rationing of the coal supply were taken today at a conference between the interstate commerce commission, and Secretary of Commerce Hoover. Plans will be announced within a few days for the distribution of coal to points where railroad operations are beginning to be crippled by fuel shortages, Mr. Hoover said.

Voluntary action by the railroads to relieve the situation was urged by Secretary Hoover. The secretary stressed the need of public utilities for coal and declared a supply of about 10,000,000 tons would have to be in the northwest by Dec. 15.

Action by the commission in the way of issuing priority orders is not expected just at this time because latest reports show about 100,000 surplus coal cars in good condition.

Harry Mager Arrested on Disorderly Charge

Harry Mager, 5239 Eberhart avenue, former collector of internal revenue; his twin brothers, Walter and Wallace, 15 years old, and Ray O'Keefe, 3274 Ellis avenue, were arrested early this morning at Glenzie's place and Broadway by Patrolman Patrick Loftis of Town Hall station, who said they were creating a disturbance. Mager and O'Keefe were charged with disorderly conduct. The two boys were held for the juvenile court.

No New Payoffs Planned.

No further conferences in Washington were said to be planned. Some of the conference said it was apparent that such efforts would be fruitless.

Persons well informed said that President Harding did not contemplate calling the executives into conference himself.

Those who attended the conference were T. De Witt Cuyler of the Association of Railway Executives, L. F. Loree of the Delaware and Hudson, E. J. Pearson of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania, and Frank H. Alfred of the Pere Marquette.

Senators Cummins, chairman, and Watson (Ind.) and Kellogg (Minn.), members of the interstate commerce committee, were also present.

The principal points in dispute between the executives, who were called here more or less secretly late today, and the union were gone over in detail at the conference, together with the possibility of legislation to meet the situation. It was said that no legislation was practicable to deal with the present strike.

Won't Yield to Men.

The rail executives, it was stated, were insistent upon three points which the unions are demanding as a recession to send the men back to work.

These are the seniority rule, the restoration of the pension status, and the question of boards of adjustment between the employers and employees.

It was said that the rail executives declared they could not and would not yield to the union demand for a national board of adjustment.

They also were said to be insistent upon refusing to restore the status quo of employees on strike with respect to their seniority and pension rights.

Impetuous Union Says.

All of these have been demanded by the union representatives as necessary before they would order the men back to work pending a rehearing of the question of wage scales.

Earnest efforts were said to have been made by the senators to secure modification of the railway executives' position. It was said that the possible menace to the public from the railway strike combined with the coal strike was stressed by the senators, but the attitude of the railway executives on the three main points regarded as necessary precedence to the return of the men to work was said to be unyielding.

No New Payoffs Planned.

No further conferences in Washington were said to be planned. Some of the conference said it was apparent that such efforts would be fruitless.

Persons well informed said that President Harding did not contemplate calling the executives into conference himself.

self and that apparently any further moves must come through the railroad labor board, the railroad executives, or the union representatives.

One of the conferees said that the future part of the government now appeared to be the task of maintaining order on the strike affected rail lines and at the same time in the coal fields.

It was expected that the results of the conference would be conveyed in some fashion to President Harding.

Purpose of Meetings.

Before the announcement came of the failure of the conference Senator Cummins said: "Senators Kellogg, Watson, and myself had a conference with some of the eastern railroad presidents this evening for the purpose of talking over the strike and ascertaining the possible exact basis between the roads and the strikers. We wanted to discover whether there was any legislation that would remove the difficulty in the way of an adjustment."

"We discussed the whole situation freely and frankly. The views of the shippers have already been fully disclosed at Chicago. The object of the conference was solely to secure information upon this very vital subject."

Asked as to whether the executives came to Washington by invitation or at their own instance, he said that he could not discuss that subject.

SUMMONS TO CAPITAL

New York, July 20.—A party of railroad chiefs headed by E. W. Loomis, president of the Delaware and Hudson and chairman of the Eastern Presidents' conference, hurriedly left for Washington, D. C., tonight in response to a summons to a conference with Senator Cummins and the Interstate Commerce committee of the senate.

The summons, which later was admitted to be of an imperative tone, was addressed to forty presidents of the conference while they were in session at the Bankers' club this afternoon.

From apparently authoritative sources it was learned that Senator Cummins and his conferees, believing the railroad's annulment of pension and seniority rights to have become the paramount issue in the strike, will ask the rail men to guarantee the shop workers reinstatement of rights if they return to work under the wage schedule fixed by the railroad labor board.

Say It Is Hopelless.

Should this be Senator Cummins' object, the mission to Washington will come to naught, declared rail heads who attended the conference today.

Our ultimatum on the seniority question was issued only after the labor board outlawed the strike, declared Charles H. Stein, general manager of the Jersey Central.

"In good faith and with the sanction of the government, we hired men to fill the strikers' jobs, and promised them seniority and other rights would date from the day we hired them. We could not now be expected to go back on our word to these men by crowding in ahead of them on the promotion list strikers who might return as the result of a settlement of the present controversy."

RAISED HOPE IN CHICAGO

When it became known in Chicago that the rail chiefs had been summoned to Washington there arose a feeling that a settlement of the shopmen's strike might be in sight. But the hope was slender, even before reports arrived, which said that the senators had come to naught.

Ben W. Hopper, chairman of the railroad labor board, refused to comment when informed by the Associated Press of the senatorial raid head conference at Washington.

"I know of no statement that could be, or ought to be, made on the part of the board now," said Hopper.

B. M. Jewell, shopmen's leader, also declined to comment. He indicated he would make a statement later.

During the day there were two other developments that gave hints of peace. These were:

The United States Court of Appeals in Chicago reversing Federal Judge George T. Page in the Pennsylvania case, restored to the United States railroad labor board power to protect certain interests of unions, thus removing one of the chief grievances of the 300,000 striking shopmen.

Another effort to effect a separate settlement was started by officials of the Baltimore and Ohio railway, undaunted by the seeming failure of carriers in the northwest in a similar undertaking.

Bringing It to a Crisis.

A series of other important developments seemed to indicate that the strike is fast approaching a crisis out of which can come only immediate peace or more intense warfare.

New movement of troops to prevent violence was reported from various parts of the country, especially the east. In this there appeared a growing relation between the shopmen's and the coal strike. There is a commitment of ultra-radical action in the coincidence of the two fights. Annulment of trains, due directly to

RAILWAY AND COAL STRIKES HAVE COST U. S. BILLION ALREADY

Washington, D. C., July 20.—The coal and rail strikes already have cost the nation nearly a billion dollars, according to estimates by government officials today.

The losses to the 330,000 striking miners in wages are estimated at about $250,000,000; those of the coal operators in profits, $150,000,000. Damage to mines and other property through violence and deterioration was placed at $50,000,000.

Losses to business men of mining communities and other industries affected by the coal shortage or the rail strike were estimated at $400,000,000. Rail strike losses in wages and on other accounts were placed at $50,000,000.

growing serious shortage of coal, increased to a total of 200. A further slowing up of freight was reported.

Truckers' Leaders Meet.

E. F. Grable, chief of the Maintenance of Way union, returned to the union's Detroit headquarters, where it will be definitely decided at a meeting of grand lodge officers today whether the truckmen are to adhere to the peace program President Grable has followed thus far.

Clerks and freight handlers on the Chesapeake and Ohio railway joined the walkout yesterday, while efforts here to prevent similar action by 7,000 members of the same organization on the Chicago and Northwestern were continued. The decision controlling the latter may be announced today. A walkout of 2,500 clerks on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway also is threatened.

GIVEN "MAILED FIST"

The decision yesterday of the United States Court of Appeals in Chicago not only restores props that had been knocked from under the labor board, but it removes a grievance the railroad shippers have nursed for months. The controversy upon which it has such an important bearing originated when the national agreements between unions and carriers, given effect under federal control of the roads, were abrogated and the railroad labor board authorized to negotiate new working rules.

In instances in which agreement seemed impossible, the dispute was referred to the labor board for adjustment.

When it came to selecting employees' representatives to meet officials of the Pennsylvania in matters of dispute, the carrier insisted that only its employees should be permitted to vote on this question.

Unions Were Eliminated.

The road held an election, leaving no place on the ballot for the names of unions as representatives of the employees. The shop crafts, however, sent other ballots, and sufficient votes to authorize the union to speak for the employees were returned.

The dispute then was taken by the unions to the labor board, which ordered the carrier to hold an election at which the unions would have a chance. The Pennsylvania "did not comply with this order."

When it seemed the labor board was about to issue a decision in the matter, the road obtained from former Judge Landis a temporary injunction restraining the board from publicly censuring the Pennsylvania. Judge Page later made this injunction permanent.

Judge Page held the board has exceeded its authority in prescribing the manner in which the election should be held. He overruled the contention that the labor board could not be sued.

Invalidates Wage Pact.

Yesterday's action of the court of appeals, it was predicted, will invalidate the wage agreement which the Pennsylvania railroad recently announced it had made with its shop employees, because the labor board has found the road was dealing with representatives of less than 15 per cent of its employees without considering the sentiments of the rest of the workers. Officials of the road this week announced the new wage agreements affected 40,000.

B. AND O. PEACE MOVE

Superintendents over the entire Baltimore and Ohio system yesterday were instructed to notify the men the company desires to deal with them.

While in some quarters the Baltimore and Ohio announcement was hailed as an important step toward ending the strike, others were less hopeful. The latter founded their views on the fact that the aim of the carrier, as indicated by press dispatches from Pittsburgh, is to make a commitment of its employees—not the union representatives now directing the strike of 300,000 shopmen.

STERLING'S VIEW OF ILLINOIS MINE SITUATION DARK

Tells President Workers Cannot Be Obtained.

Springfield, Ill., July 20.—[Special.]—Acting Gov. Sterling today sent the following message to President Harding offering military protection for any men who want to work in the coal mines of the state:

"Your communication relating to coal situation addressed to Gov. Len Small, in his absence on a vacation, has been brought to my attention as acting governor."

"I trust you will pardon my failure to reply more promptly, the delay being necessary to give me an opportunity to carefully investigate actual present conditions of the coal mining situation in Illinois, which, as you are now doubtless aware, are materially different from the conditions existing in most of the other bituminous coal producing states."

Praises Harding's Efforts.

"I am in hearty sympathy with the splendid effort made by you to bring about, through conference with the miners and operators, a resumption of normal coal production and to prevail upon the men to be working in the mines while their representatives were discussing, with others, the questions of adequate wage and safe and proper working conditions and hours."

"All Illinois mine workers, under the laws of this state, must be qualified and licensed by a state mine examining board. Practically all of our 90,000 qualified mine workers in Illinois are unionized and ceased work on April 1 last. In my opinion, other qualified men are wholly lacking to operate Illinois mines."

"If the operators can find an adequate number of men qualified to work in Illinois mines, I will join with federal authorities in protecting the rights of qualified persons to work in such mines and the property used for that purpose."

Question of Getting Workers.

"The question in Illinois is the ability to secure qualified miners. The necessity of an immediate resumption of work is fully realized and the gravity of further delay cannot be minimized. The governor of this state will extend adequate protection to qualified persons and the lawful right to work and will protect property and maintain law and order within the limits of his lawful power, and will join with the federal government in all ways for the foregoing purposes."

"The practical condition faced in Illinois is one of qualified miners. I seriously doubt whether such men can be had in sufficient numbers to justify the hope of a general resumption of normal production in this state in the absence of a settlement of the entire controversy in Illinois. There is really no unemployment in Illinois, practically the only men not working at this time being those who have voluntarily quit work."

State Backs Harding, Small Says.

South Bend, Ind., July 20.—[Special.]—The state of Illinois will do its duty in supporting President Harding, declared Gov. Len Small this afternoon. He was en route to his home, Kankakee, Ill., from Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich., in an auto, being accompanied by Col. E. A. English, his son-in-law and chief of staff. Gov. Small spoke highly of the Illinois national guard, declaring it to be well organized and ready to answer any emergency call at any moment.

Report Canada Has Asked Rail Directorate to Quit

Toronto, July 20.—The Toronto Star today quoted a member of parliament as authority for the statement that the entire directorate of the Canadian National railway had resigned at the government's request in order to give the government a free hand at reorganization. At the railroad office it was learned the directors had been in session all day, but President D. B. Hanna declined to discuss the reported resignations.

Cadiz, O., July 20.—Several hundred union miners, many of them armed, are gathering at Hopedale and Adena, O., preparatory to marching on strip mines in this section, according to reports reaching Sheriff O. K. Martin.

"There is possibility of serious trouble before the troops arrive," the sheriff declared.

Two hundred and thirty Ohio national guardsmen left Columbus aboard a special train shortly before midnight en route to Cadiz, in accordance with the order of Gov. Davis, issued late this afternoon. They are scheduled to arrive here early tomorrow.

Holington, Kas., July 20.—Two companies of state troops, under command of Col. H. K. Cassidy of Wichita, arrived here today and took control of the shops and yards of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

Keep Troops in Waycross.

Atlanta, Ga., July 20.—National guardsmen sent to Waycross in connection with disorders arising from the railroad strike will be kept on duty there for "a day or two longer," it was announced today at the office of Gov. Hardwick.

Will Reopen Shops.

Rocky Mount, N. C., July 20.—Two companies of national guardsmen consisting of 140 infantrymen and artillerymen, arrived here late today for duty in connection with the strike of railway shopmen. Atlantic Coast Line railroad officials announced that the Emporia shops would be reopened tomorrow.

N. H. Troops Called.

Manchester, N. H., July 20.—Two battalions of the 18th anti-aircraft regiment will proceed to Concord at once in answer to Gov. Brown's call for troops, it was announced here late today.

The governor's action followed receipt of a letter from Mayor Chamberlain of Concord requesting that protection be afforded railway workers there. Five masked men last Tuesday night ordered fifteen new employees of the road from their sleeping quarters in the railroad yard.

Mails Not Delayed.

Washington, D. C., July 20.—An announcement was made today by Postmaster General Work that "any menaces endangering the delivery of mail arising out of the strike of railway shopmen had passed."

The announcement was made in the face of reports from divisional officials of the mail service that additional trains were being cancelled. Postoffice officials explained that the situation now was so in hand that practically all instances where the railroads were unable to carry out their mail contracts or other means of moving the mails were found.

CITY'S UTILITIES HAVE PLENTY OF COAL AT PRESENT

They're Supplied for 50 to 90 Days.

With from fifty to ninety days' coal supply on hand, utility corporations which furnish the city's electricity, gas, heat, and water, are not inclined to fear a coal shortage for the time being, at least.

Yesterday it was learned that the People's Gas, Light, and Coke company has a three months' coal supply. The Commonwealth-Edison company has one of fifty days and the Sanitary district possesses a supply to see them over a similar period.

City Well Supplied.

According to City Engineer Murdoch, the city of Chicago has a coal supply good for seventy days, with shipments being received daily. The normal supply averages about a month ahead in summer, he said.

Officials of the Public Utilities Company of Illinois, by which 145 cities and towns in the state are served, do not believe that the situation will become sufficiently acute to make necessary any curtailment of power and heat to customers.

On the other hand, railroads entering in Chicago, with coal supplies that will take care of the next ten to forty-five days, slashed their schedules yesterday, to conserve their stock.

Trains Cut Off.

The Chicago and Northwestern railroad removed fifteen suburban trains, as well as certain trains to Milwaukee and those on western branch lines. The Baltimore and Ohio cut off two trains each way between Chicago and New York, while the Pere Marquette removed train No. 7, which leaves here daily at 5 p. m. for Grand Rapids, Mich.

Would Deport Aliens Who Engage in Labor Violence

Washington, D. C., July 20.—Representative Edmonds, Republican (Pa.), announced today that when the house reconvenes Aug. 15 he would introduce a resolution providing deportation as a penalty for participation by not fully naturalized Americans in acts of violence in labor troubles. His resolution would provide for such deportation even if participation consisted in only personal attendance without any direct illegal acts. Aliens involved and their families would be deported in case of criminal conviction.

COAL OPERATORS ASK U. S. TO SIFT HERRIN MURDERS

Washington, D. C., July 20.—[Special.]—Urgent demand for immediate investigation by the government of the atrocities at Herrin, Ill., with a view to bringing to justice those responsible for them was voiced in a resolution made public today by the bituminous operators' group of the National Chamber of Commerce.

The operators demanded "such prompt, vigorous, and impartial investigation of the terrible crimes committed at Herrin, Ill., as will inform the public of the true extent of the massacre and will bring to trial the guilty persons, whether actual participants or those who by incendiary writings or interpretive speech provoked the mob."

SENATORS SCORE FORD'S PLAN FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

See $14,500,000,000
Profit for Corporation.

Washington, D. C., July 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—In a comprehensive report submitted to the senate today by Chairman Norris of the senate agricultural committee Henry Ford's offer for the purchase and lease of the government's war initiated projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., is condemned in unusually strong language.

The Nebraska senator's bill, proposing development of the properties under a government owned and controlled corporation is described as "the most wonderful plan" that has ever been proposed in the history of the country.

The Ford offer is dealt with in unflattering terms. Its adoption, the report says, would put "the government of the United States into business with a vengeance," adding that "those who ask us, in effect, to lease this property to this corporation without any real consideration, and then in addition thereto guarantee to repair and keep and maintain it in good condition for a period of 100 years."

Mistaken Ideas on Ford Offer.
"It is difficult to harmonize our ideas of Mr. Ford's fairness," the report continues, "with his silence on this subject when his name is so often used in exaggeration and misrepresentation as to just what he does offer to do. The country has been given to understand that Mr. Ford has guaranteed to reduce the cost of fertilizer by one-half. He has done nothing of the kind. He has made no guarantee of any kind in the way of the reduction of the cost of fertilizer."

"The country has been given to understand that he pays the government 4 per cent interest on its investment in the two dams. He does nothing of the kind. He has not made any such offer and no such proposition is included in his bid."

"Giving his corporation credit for every dollar that it pays, he will be paying to the taxpayers less than 3 per cent on the money which he uses out of the treasury of the United States, and when we consider that this loan runs for 100 years it requires even the stretch of the imagination to understand the enormous profit that this corporation secures in this one item alone."

Enormous Profits Foreseen.
"Assuming that a fair interest rate in the commercial world is 8 per cent interest, this would give his corporation during a 100 year period a total gift of cold cash of $236,250,000, and if this money were compounded as Mr. Ford asks the government to compound what he pays the profit would be $14,500,000,000. This is more than half our total cost of the world war."

"The country has been given to understand that the Ford offer provides for the repayment to the government within the 100-year period the entire investment that the government has made. His offer does nothing of the kind."

AGAIN SUES LOU

GERALDINE FARRAR.
(Photo by Artcraft Pictures.)

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—Geraldine Farrar, opera singer, filed a suit against her husband, Lou Tellegen, actor, whom she is suing for divorce, in the Supreme court several months ago, in which she demands the repayment of $9,600 alleged to have been lent to Tellegen during the four years they lived together.

This fact did not become known until today, when Justice Donnelly denied an application by Miss Farrar to compel her husband to give particulars of the defense in his answer mailed to her attorneys last month, that the money has all been repaid and that he owes her nothing.

Calls Proposition Unreasonable.
"When we bring together the results that must follow from these two divisions of the Ford offer the mind is dashed at the unreasonableness of the proposition, at the enormity of the gift. With the expenditure of no money there is to be turned over to a corporation property of the value of more than $100,000,000 and the right and privilege to exact unjust profits from the citizens of this country without limit."

"There is nothing in the history of the world with which this can be compared. Civilization is without a precedent. If the Ford offer is accepted, then the fight for conservation that has been waged by public spirited and patriotic men and women all over the country is not only lost and given away, but those who are unwillingly compelled to make the gift are to be taxed 100 years to make the gift more profitable."

NOT "GOS SOUTH."
Chicago police wired requests yesterday to southern cities asking that police there look for Roy Keith, 15 years old, 1215 East 64th street, who left home on a bicycle Monday for Birmingham, Ala. He took $125 with him.

STRIKE POSTER MAY PUT EDITOR WHITE IN JAIL

that following in the state and this declaration that he did not intend to obey this law has aroused a sympathetic response among other strike sympathizers.

No Exception in White's Case.
"It is now apparent that we are not going to be able to stop this practice in Kansas without arrests and prosecutions. No distinctions will be made as to individuals, no matter what their standing may be in the state or nation. Certainly we cannot make any exception of Mr. White's case."

"The case has nothing whatever to do with any man's right of free speech. It is a simple concrete question as to whether a citizen is going to obey the law of his state, both as to its spirit and its letter, or he permitted to honestly encourage others in the violation of the law at a moment when the situation is tense with danger to government."

Allen and White were the "Henry and Me" of White's book of the war in France.

At the present time White is stoutly asserting that he believes in the industrial act, but that the law never contemplated taking away from him or any citizen the right to free expression of opinion. During the special session of the legislature of 1918, which enacted the industrial court act, White appeared before the legislature in support of its passage.

No Enmity, Says White.
Emporia, Kan., July 20.—That no feeling of personal enmity or bitterness is connected with the present controversy was declared emphatically by Mr. White before he went to his home tonight.

"Whatever happens, my personal feeling for Gov. Allen remains unchanged," Mr. White said. "We differ over the advisability of permitting free speech in the present industrial controversy. Free speech is never in question except when opinions clash."

Then the only time freedom is useful. The merchants of Kansas who sympathize with the strikers are putting in their windows cards reading: "We are for the striking railway shopmen 100 per cent. We are for a living wage and fair living conditions."

Only 50 Per Cent for Them.
"As a matter of fact, I am not for the striking railway men 100 per cent. They have a just cause, but have taken a foolish time for fighting for it. So I have put in my window a card from which I have erased '100 per cent' and put '50 per cent.'"

"The governor thinks that 50 per cent is an incendiary amount of sympathy. I do not, and I regard the right to utter opinions in industrial controversies as one of the fundamental liberties which Americans enjoy."

"There is no personal feeling between Gov. Allen and me. He is making a splendid governor. I am for the industrial court. I believe in the adjudication of labor disputes, but we are not going to have successful adjudication by suppressing ancient rights."

QUENCHES THIRST—BUILDS STRENGTH.

So extra delicious With fresh fruits on a hot day

No other food has such an appeal on a hot day as Kellogg's Corn Flakes! They win fickle appetites, they satisfy hungry folks! And, my, but they are delicious in their crisp crunchiness and wonderful flavor!

As an extra-summer taste thrill, eat Kellogg's with bananas or the luscious summer fruit now in season. Such a diet is not only ideal from a health standpoint, but it is refreshing—cooling and enjoyable beyond words.

Eat Kellogg's Corn Flakes liberally because they digest easily. Let the children have all they want. All will be better for a lighter diet—and free from headaches and sluggish drowsiness.

THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILWAY COMPANY

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Richmond, Va., July 20, 1922.

To the clerks and affiliated employees of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company:

In my circular to the clerks and affiliated employees of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, published in various papers on July 19, 1922, I stated that "in the event the clerks do strike it will be necessary, of course, under the law, and to carry out its duties to the public, for the company to continue to operate the property, for which the necessary complement of clerks will be required." Believing that the minority of our clerks and affiliated employees who went out on strike at 10 A. M. today were misled, and feeling that upon reflection they will be desirous of returning to the service, I am giving them the following notice: They will be allowed to return to the service with seniority rights unimpaired if they do so before 10 o'clock A. M. Saturday, July 22. If they do not do so by this time, their places will be filled permanently. The company assures every employee who remains with it, those who resume work, and every new employee that he or she will be protected in the performance of their duties and will also be protected in the retention of their positions.

W. J. HARAHAAN,
President.

VICE AND GRAFT AT HIGH TIDE, CITY HALL TOLD

Albert Throws Up Hands; Two Police Ousted.

ALD. ARTHUR F. ALBERT.

On three different floors yesterday the city hall reverberated with charges of police graft, protected vice and gambling, and assertions that this or that public official is "not on the square," is a "hypocrite" or is in a "conspiracy."

The net results of the three ring circus totaled two policemen, David C. Revere and Henry A. Aberly of Hudson avenue station, dismissed from the police force on graft charges by the city civil service commission, and one alderman in tears, wishing that the fight to clean up his ward was useless.

Rev. Williamson to Rescue.

In vain Rev. Williamson, law enforcer, attempted to stem the tide of condemnation by telling the city morals commission in loud tones that "in nearly six months in the city hall I have not found anything crooked in any department."

"I'm through with politics," Ald. Arthur F. Albert of the Twenty-second ward declared at the close of the meeting of a subcommittee of the police committee, during which Ald. Eaton referred to Albert as "a fourflusher and a publicity seeker."

It was after Ald. Eaton's reference to "fourflushing" that Ald. Albert broke down and wept. He pointed to the fact that four policemen of the Hudson avenue station have been discharged on graft evidence prepared by him in spite of assertions of Capt. Max Danner that two of the policemen were "brave, honorable, and efficient policemen."

One of the features of the second floor or aldermanic exposed were charges by the Rev. Norman B. Barr, superintendent of Olive Institute, who backed up Albert's charges that "at least six policemen go around the Hudson avenue police district collecting graft." The Rev. Mr. Barr picked out an unexpected target. He lit into the city council.

"Every member of the city council who refuses to go out and clean up vice and gambling is damning the city," the Rev. Mr. Barr shouted. "Aldermen who won't get out and do this are hypocrites, sluggards, and unfaithful representatives of the people. I intend to go on shouting that from the housetops."

The Rev. Mr. Barr made no exception of Rev. Williamson, $10,000 law enforcer extraordinary for Mayor Thompson, who sat nearby. He used the phrase, "playing politics" in referring to the enforcer.

"What's that?" asked Ald. Franz. "You heard what I said," returned the Rev. Mr. Barr.

Catalog of Vice.

Before the city morals commission there was another passage at arms when Dr. Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, and Rev. Williamson "mixed it" at the end of a two hour session.

Dr. Yarrow, after Health Commission

LEADERS IN VICE CRUSADE CLASH

Rev. Williamson, super law enforcer of the city, and the Rev. Philip Yarrow of the Illinois Vigilance association, engaged in heated argument yesterday at the meeting of the morals commission over Rev. Williamson's efforts to curb lawlessness. Rev. Yarrow charged that vice was rampant in the city and that the enforcer had done little to check it. Photo shows those at the meeting. Left to right—Stenographer, Rev. Williamson, Rev. Philip Yarrow, Dr. H. N. Bundesen, Henry Ostrowski, Mrs. A. H. Brumbach, George Landau, and Father W. T. McNamee.

soner Bundesen had made a strong plea in favor of publicity and education as a preventative for social diseases, tore the lid off by reading for fifteen minutes from reports from investigators for his association. The reports read like testimony taken by the 1912 vice commission. Address after address of disorderly houses were given; the number of inmates in each was told, their ages were catalogued, the prices asked by woman inmates was given, and the declaration was made repeatedly that many of the women confessed themselves to be perverts.

Resorts Go Unchecked.

"Some of this is shocking," Dr. Yarrow said, but there was a general admission to "go right ahead," and the members of the commission, Dr. Brushingham, Dr. Bundesen, Dr. Sophie Brumbach, Henry Ostrowski, Dr. G. E. Wyneken, and Rev. Williamson, listened attentively at the shocking revelation.

"There has been no constructive repression of vice by this administration," said Dr. Yarrow, reading from an open letter which he sent to Mayor Thompson on July 8.

"That is important if true," declared Dr. Brushingham, with a tinge of sarcasm.

"We are almost back to the old red light conditions," Dr. Yarrow continued. "There is open prostitution and white slavery, and places concerning which complaints are made are permitted to continue operating."

Where's Mayor Thompson?

"The rift-rift of the underworld is haled into the morals court while the influential princes of darkness continue to run their places unmolested. Gambling, vice, bootlegging, why doesn't the mayor clean it up?"

One investigator was solicited by women eleven times in one block on South State street recently, Yarrow charged. He added that a "trained observer" estimated that there are at least 2,000 brothels, each containing from five to twenty-five women, 90 per cent of whom are infected with social diseases, in Chicago.

Dr. Yarrow told of his visit to one "notorious brothel" within two blocks of the Des Plaines street station.

Police Must Know It.

"I was solicited there myself by a half dozen women," he asserted. "I'm a minister. You don't have to be a sleuth to get evidence on open brothels in Chicago. You can't tell me the police don't know about that place."

After Dr. Yarrow had declared that his reports showed that the Eagle, Reliance, and Sterling hotels on West Madison street are disorderly houses, Mr. Landau asked:

"Is West Madison street worse or better than it was before prohibition came?"

Dr. Yarrow at first parried the question. Then he found the answer which suited him. It was: "But prohibition is not operative in Chicago."

Rev. Williamson's Defense.

Enforcer Williamson arose to reply to the indictment of the city administration.

"I will not be examined by Williamson," Dr. Yarrow announced.

"As a public official," Enforcer Williamson asserted, "I have a right to talk. I have found nothing crooked in the city hall. I have no doubt that Yarrow found these conditions, but it is another thing to get evidence which will stand up in court. Unless he is willing to get such evidence he should make no charges of a conspiracy among city officials."

The morals commission appointed a committee to lay Dr. Yarrow's charges before Chief of Police Fitzmorris.

Statement by Yarrow.

In a statement issued last night, Mr. Yarrow said:

"The Illinois Vigilance association believes that a conspiracy exists in the city of Chicago to thwart the functions of city government. It is our purpose to place responsibility where it belongs."

"To the terrible charge made by Dr. Williamson that the association is about to raise money, it is only necessary to reply that we never have had enough money to do all the work of warning our youth concerning the dangers of prostitution."

RITZ BRIBERY HINTED

After the jurors trying Edward Rosenberg, proprietor of the notorious Ritz-Carlton café and who is accused of violating the state liquor law, had been out six hours following their retirement at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Judge Fedon left the courtroom, leaving instructions that they be kept in their quarters until this morning.

Special State's Attorney Francis W. Walker, criticizing laxity in guarding the jury in recess periods, said:

"I saw one of the men interested in the defense yesterday with a roll of bills which must have contained at least $2,000. I am trying to figure out what he was doing with it."

Because a prompt verdict was not reached the prosecuting attorneys fear a disagreement. In this event, Mr. Walker said that indictment of all employees of the café on conspiracy charges probably would be sought.

In attempting to break down the state's case David Alexander, attorney for Rosenberg, charged several of the state's witnesses with perjury, including Samuel Thrasher of the Committee of Fifteen. Others he asked the jury to disregard on the ground they were "paid" reformers.

In closing the state's case, Mr. Walker pictured Rosenberg as the proprietor of a "joint where young girls are ruined."

"I don't see how any attorney has the nerve," he said, "to stand up before a jury of American citizens and try to defend Rosenberg by saying that he is interested in the colored race. His joint is one of the worst influences in Chicago."

LIVE WIRE ENDANGERS BOY.

Beloit, Wis., July 20.—(Special.)—Charles Morris, 9, had a narrow escape from death today when he took hold of a live wire while climbing a tree. His screams brought several men to his assistance. Several fingers will be amputated.

BRIEF ARMISTICE MAKES WIFE SUE SCHOLLES AGAIN

Short lived happiness, followed by his "stony silence, utter indifference, surly, unkind and savage treatment," caused Mrs. Vere Plummer Scholes, 1205 Lincoln street, Evanston, to file yesterday her second bill for separate maintenance from Sidney Earl Scholes, wealthy head of the Baylis Sanitary Supply company, 341 West Superior street.

Mrs. Scholes, said to be the daughter of a wealthy Minneapolis manufacturer, recently filed a suit for separate maintenance, charging that Scholes had on numerous occasions attacked her. According to the bill, Scholes, angered when she sought to aid him in building a furnace fire, attempted to push her bodily into the furnace. As a result Mrs. Scholes declared she was burned severely.

The suit was dismissed several weeks ago, when Scholes, repenting, promised to "turn over a new leaf." For a day or two, Mrs. Scholes asserts, all was happiness, but to her amazement she learned that her charge accounts at loop stores had been closed by Scholes' order and her allowance reduced to "a meager sum."

Her remonstrances resulted in beatings, she asserts, and often she was publicly upbraided by Scholes regardless of her chastity and good name.

Since the reconciliation, the bill continues, "Scholes has at all times been surly, unkind, and savage, and had refused to have anything to do with her, to talk to her, to attend to her amusements and pastimes."

Further, she avers, "when he came home from his work he would eat the meal prepared by her in silence, and then retire to his own pleasures—autos, golf, and other places unknown, without asking her to accompany him."

An injunction restraining Scholes from molesting Mrs. Scholes or from disposing of his property pending disposition of her petition, was issued by Judge Joseph David.

Wife Deserter Arrested with Girl He Married

Thomas Cousins of Washington, D. C., was arrested last night at 224 East Superior street in company with Thelma Small, 21, a telephone operator. Cousins is under indictment for wife and child abandonment. He at first denied that he was wanted, but tattoo marks on both arms verified his identification. He said he had married the Small girl here last August under an assumed name. The girl was not held.

MORON CHARGES HALTED BY RUSE; WILL BE PRESSED

Piquett Sifts Case of Laurence.

City Prosecutor Louis Piquett announced last night that he will apply to the Harrison street branch of the Municipal court today for a warrant for the arrest of Jack B. Laurence, 6429 Drexel avenue, whose trial before Judge Joseph Schulman on charges of annoying little girls was mysteriously halted on Wednesday.

Mr. Piquett's investigation disclosed an interesting set of circumstances in connection with the non-suelling of the case against Laurence by an assistant city prosecutor. Mr. Piquett called J. B. Thomas, the prosecutor assigned to Judge Schulman's court, to the city hall yesterday.

Got Orders by Phone.

"Why did you non-suit the case?" Piquett asked Thomas, who is 75 years old, a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and was admitted to the bar fifty-four years ago.

"I'm an old soldier and I simply obeyed orders," Thomas replied. "You called me on the telephone and told me to drop that case, that the city did not want to go ahead with it."

"I didn't call you," Piquett replied. "I was in Atlantic City at the time you say you got orders to non-suit the case."

Acting Corporation Counsel James W. Breen, who is Thomas' political sponsor and a staunch admirer of the old man, jumped into the investigation. Hechenstein Again Accused.

Last night he said he had positive evidence that, representing himself as City Prosecutor Piquett, Isadore Hechenstein, formerly chief clerk in Piquett's office, made the telephone call telling Thomas to "lay off" the case. Hechenstein was discharged a few days ago by Mr. Breen after two women had declared that they had paid money to Alexander Jefferson, a colored investigator, to escape being sent to the Lawrenceville Contagious Disease hospital, and after Jefferson had confessed, according to Mr. Breen, that he split the money with Hechenstein.

"I not only want to see Laurence go to trial, but I want to have a talk with him to find out how he arranged with the person who called Thomas on the telephone to have the case non-suited," Mr. Piquett said in announcing that he would ask for the warrant for Laurence today.

Sets High Bond.

Judge Emanuel Eller in the Sheffield avenue court yesterday continued until July 26 the case against Isaac Sacks, 61 years old, proprietor of a fruit store, who is accused of luring a 9 year old girl into his store and attempting to mistreat her, but the judge seemingly made sure that Sacks will be on hand for trial. He fixed Sacks' bond at $10,000.

U. S. ASKED BY EUROPE TO KEEP OUT OF RUSSIA

Hague Conference Urges Ban on Private Deals.

BY LARRY RUE.

(Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.)
THE HAGUE, July 21.—The good ship Hague, which rudderless started its precarious voyage over uncharted seas a month ago, was scuffed by its crew today and sank beneath the waters with the total loss uncovered by insurance.

In deserting the ship the allies and neutrals resolved to recommend to the owners the desirability that all governments refrain from supporting their nationals in attempts to acquire Russian cargo belonging to other foreigners without the latter's consent. The resolution hinges upon the governments here urging the other governments not represented here to concur in this decision. The resolution provides that no decision will be taken on the question unless it is jointly with these other governments.

Claims U. S. Backing.
Uncle Sam, through Charge d'Affaires Louis Sulisford, has informed the crew, according to M. Cartier of Belgium, that America concurs in the decision. M. Cartier quoted Mr. Sulisford as follows:

"The United States has no intention of modifying the line of conduct which it previously adopted. Therefore no citizen of the United States will obtain the support of his government in trying to acquire property in Russia belonging to citizens of other states. The United States desires that this attitude be made public."

While the allied and neutral experts intimated to American newspapers here that there was a communication from America, Mr. Sulisford flatly denied knowing anything about any such communication which influenced reporters to interpret the reports as further propaganda to involve America in the allied plans.

Report to Commission.
Commander Hilton Young of Great Britain in submitting a report to the general commission today regarding the causes for scuttling the ship, stated that Maxim Litvinoff's suggestions could not form the basis at present for an immediate agreement because they failed to provide the necessary working machinery.

However, Mr. Young said the proposals were "extremely welcome" because they indicated recognition of ill-littees without conditions and signified that Russia realized the necessity for laying a practical foundation for credits by restoring confidence.

He neglected to mention why the allies and neutrals had not suggested to M. Litvinoff, when the latter asked for them, the terms on which the basis of a general agreement were possible.

Says Allies Could Not Agree.
M. Litvinoff said the inability of the allies and neutrals to agree among themselves was the real reason for the failure to submit positive proposals for the basis of an agreement, and he intimated the claims which some nations were pressing against Russia were so preposterous that they did not dare openly to announce them.

Both the allies and neutrals and M. Litvinoff agreed that the logical consequences of the break up will be private agreements between Russia and the previous property owners, while diplomatic relations with the outcast nation, if they are resumed, will be done so piecemeal.

M. Litvinoff advised all foreigners having claims against Russia to take them up with the Russian government themselves.

LENIN TOO ILL EVER TO RESUME DUTIES, REPORT

(Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, July 20.—Premier Nicolai Lenin of Russia is suffering from cerebral paralysis, from which he will never recover, according to an authoritative report received here today. M. Lenin never will be able to work again and is living under guard at his villa, named New Jerusalem, on the outskirts of Moscow. He was last seen in public in the early part of May.

The soviet government is being directed by a committee of seven composed of MM. Stalin, Kamenef, Trotsky, Zinovieff, Bukharin, Dzerzhinski, and Rykoff. M. Stalin is the strong man on whom the reins of power are expected to fall when M. Lenin's condition is admitted. It was revealed that Leon Trotsky is not trusted by his colleagues.

There is enough food in Russia and the harvests are sufficient, and with proper distribution all the famine districts can be fed. There will be enough food supplies in Russia for next winter.

ILLINOIS WOMAN FINDS ERIN TOUR IS NO JOY RIDE

BY HUGH CURRAN.

(Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.)
DUBLIN, July 20.—Miss M. C. Seagrave of Clinton, Ill., on reaching Dublin today, told of her adventurous journey through south Ireland. Landing in Queenstown last Friday with a party of seventy-five American tourists, she found the railways disorganized.

The party decided to try to reach Dublin by way of Waterford. With great difficulty they reached that city on Monday. The place was held by irregulars, and word went around that an attack by government troops was imminent.

The party prepared to leave in cars for Clonmore, nine miles distant, where it was possible to get a train for Dublin. They made an imposing sight as they started for the only bridge by which access to the north was possible.

Not all the party got out of Waterford, as some who were delayed on reaching the bridge, saw the irregulars had put it out of commission, and they were marooned. The main party found trees felled across the roads.

A horse and cart with five passengers, fell into one trench, but when dragged out by the men it was found all were safe. The other vehicles were wheeled over the trench on a plank bridge. The horses followed. At this point youth, presumably an irregular, levied a toll of one shilling per head.

Clonmore was reached in time to find that the last train had departed for Dublin. A later train to New Ross was secured, where the party managed to get food and rest.

JAPAN HOLDS UP SCRAPPING NAVY TILL FRENCH ACT

(Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.)
TOKIO, July 20.—Although the vernacular press is full of the alleged plans for scrapping a part of the Japanese navy, under the Washington treaty, specifying ships, dates and methods, the spokesman of the navy department today assured me absolutely nothing had been definitely decided, nor will any actual orders be issued until French ratification of the pact is announced.

"We can proceed with scrapping of ships and men and even removing guns and engines without waiting for final ratification," Commander Sakano, chief secretary of the navy ministry, said, "but we cannot destroy one precious ship. The men and machinery can be replaced, but once a hull is sunk into the depths or ripped apart it cannot be replaced. We believe ratification is certain, but we cannot take the ultimate step prematurely."

He said it is uncertain when the scrapping of ships will occur, probably late this year or perhaps next spring. It all depends on France's action. Regarding the popular move to save the hull of the flagship of Admiral Togo, the spokesman said the department will not consider this because it is pledged to scrap even this famous victory ship, although a portion of it will be permanently retained as a special memento.

"ELF CHILD," WIFE OF PREACHER, GOT $650,000 CHARGE

(Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, July 20.—How the late Walter Winans, Baltimore millionaire racehorse owner, and sportsman, lavished a fortune on an 18 year old girl before he discovered she was married was revealed today when the administrator of Mr. Winans' estate started a suit to recover $650,000 from Annie Lillian Lucy Winwright, 17, and her husband, the Rev. Graham Lyett.

When Mr. Winans was 68 years old he met Mr. and Mrs. Winwright. He became infatuated with her. Then in October, 1914, Mr. Winwright obtained a divorce.

In April, 1920, Mr. Winans discovered that she had been married to the Rev. Mr. Lyett three weeks after she had been divorced.

Mr. Winans' letters to Mrs. Winwright included the following, which was read in court today:

"Little Elf. Sorry you are worried about bills. I will send you money as soon as I get it. Don't worry about sending me bills. You are my little elf girl, and I must keep your bills paid. You are not one bit extravagant. You are a good child."

IRISH REGULARS, LED BY EX-YANK, WIN WATERFORD

Rebels Being Crushed in South Ireland.

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
DUBLIN, July 21. (P. M.)—Waterford fell late last night under an aggressive attack by the nationalists, directed by Col. John Prout, former officer of New York's 68th infantry, which served in France with the Rainbow Division.

This city was the only one in Ireland to hold out against William of Orange. Its capture by government troops indicates the resistance of the irregulars is being crushed even in their greatest strongholds in the southwest. Captulation of other cities is expected within a month.

Wires to Cork Opened.
Telegraph communications have been resumed in Cork for the first time in weeks, indicating an improvement in the situation. The irregulars are in possession of the postoffice and are exercising rigorous censorship.

The capture of Waterford was the result of the successful execution of a daring plan of national troops. They landed on the north side of the river Suir on ferries and landed two miles below the city during the night. Working towards the eastern environs, they reached the first irregular outpost, the Adelphi hotel, facing Reginald's tower, across the mall. They surprised the garrison and through a hole in the wall entered the Imperial hotel next door. This foothold, gained without a casualty, netted thirty prisoners.

Take Tower Without Shot.
At midnight the nationalists crossed the mall and took the tower without a shot. Later they pushed the irregulars from the postoffice and attacked those holding Breen's hotel and Hall's store, dominating the backlife bridge.

Both infantry and cavalry barracks were destroyed by fire and several minor buildings were burned. The nationalists worked through the narrow streets up Ballybricken hill, an elevation of 500 feet, overlooking the city.

Rebels Give Up Tullamore.
BELFAST, July 20.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Irish army bulletin for this afternoon says it is reported the irregulars retreated from Tullamore at 4 o'clock this morning after burning the barracks, the court house and the jail.

The Telegraph's Mullingar correspondent reports the destruction of the Fort Muna bridge in Galway. The structure was one of the most important in that neighborhood.

Hopper and No. 5 at Parting of Ways

Mrs. Eda Furry Hopper, fifth wife of De Wolf Hopper, and De Wolf Jr., as they appeared in 1916. (Underwood & Underwood Photo.)

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. Eda Furry Hopper will begin an action for an absolute divorce against De Wolf Hopper, the comedian, tomorrow. Mr. Hopper, now playing in Baltimore, is not expected to contest the suit.

Although the divorce will be asked for on statutory grounds, there will be no mention of a co-respondent. She will ask for the full custody of her son, De Wolf Hopper Jr., who is now 7 years of age. She was married to the comedian on May 8, 1915, at Riverside, N. Y.

The present Mrs. Hopper is the comedian's fifth wife. His first wife was Ella Gardiner, No. 2 was Ida Moscher, Edna Wallace was Mr. Hopper's third, and Nellie Berger was his fourth wife.

Hopper, with a record of five wives, ran neck and neck with Nat Goodwin, who when he died in 1919, was engaged to his sixth wife-to-be.

ITALY'S CABINET CRISIS MUDDLED BY 13 PARTIES

BY V. DE SANTO.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

ROME, July 20.—The crisis which caused the fall of Premier Facta and his cabinet yesterday was brought about by recent actions on the part of the Fascist, extreme nationalists, in burning Communist headquarters and driving Socialist officials from several towns.

The Fascist also attacked Catholics in several localities, thus causing a temporary union between the Catholics and Socialists, resulting in the overthrow of the government, which both groups accused of being weak and unable to suppress the Fascist.

Sig. Orlando, a former premier, very likely will succeed Sig. Facta, but it is believed the crisis will be of long duration.

ALLIES WANT TO PAY U. S. ARMY IN GERMAN GOODS

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

PARIS, July 20.—The allies are planning to offer American payment in German materials for the accumulated Rhine army costs of $250,000,000. A joint reply to Secretary of State Hughes' notes requesting reimbursement will be forwarded in a few days.

The allies point out that they themselves have been deprived of cash payments for some time owing to the state of the German finances, and therefore they are inquiring if America will accept raw materials and manufactured articles.

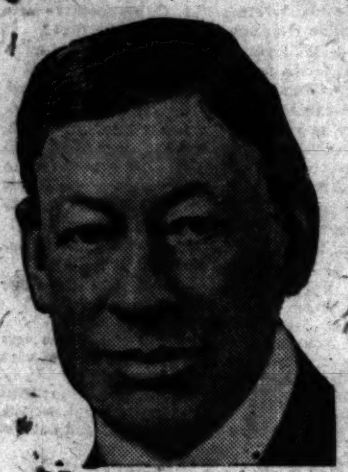

The collapse of the mark offered a solution to the problem which the allies have been seeking since Mr. Hughes' note arrived early in the spring. None of the countries want to give up any of their share of cash which the German reparations have so far netted in order to meet America's prior claim.

The allies will also point out that the expenses of the French and Belgian armies on the Rhine have been paid entirely in materials, while the British have been paid in cash, although not in full.

Allied Demands Accepted.
The allied demands for supervision of German finances has been accepted by the German finance ministry in behalf of the government, according to a communiqué from the guarantee committee.

The field is entirely clear now for the reparations commission to discuss the German plea for a moratorium on cash payments, which it has already been decided will be limited to three or six months. The French and British reparations delegates may argue several weeks as to the extent of German guarantees.

Fear Reichstag May Not Act.
Curiously, the allied demands for German financial reform are identical with those accepted by Germany May 31 in order to secure the first moratorium this year, but which were never carried out. The only fear of the commission is that the Reichstag will adjourn before enacting control measures.

DE WOLF HOPPER.

tion, because of the difficulty in finding other members of the cabinet.

The chamber of deputies is divided into thirteen political parties, and it is difficult to bring a sufficient number into agreement to constitute a majority.

It is stated that one possibility is that Sig. Facta may remain and form a new cabinet, retaining Foreign Minister Schanzer. It seems improbable that Sig. Nitti, who is expected to return to the premiership, will succeed in the present shakeup.

"NERVE" PATIENT BAFFLES M. D.'S, BUT NOT SHERIFF

A week ago Clayton L. Cooper of Hanover, Ill., came to the Montrose hospital, suffering, he said, from "nerves." Physicians, however, were unable to diagnose the case.

Early yesterday C. A. Howard, a deputy sheriff of Carroll county, served a warrant on the patient and the two departed for Mount Carroll, Ill.

Cooper, an engineer by occupation, is accused of two robberies.

GERMAN ENVOY IN EUROPE.
PORTSMOUTH, England, July 20.—[By the Associated Press.]—Dr. Otto Ludwig Windt, German ambassador to the United States, and Dr. W. S. Bell, German ambassador to Japan, arrived here from New York today. Both denied the likelihood of either being chosen to succeed Walter Rathenau, the late minister for foreign affairs.

GET READY, DAD; TOMORROW WILL BE CIRCUS DAY

Circus officials reached Chicago in force yesterday to make ready for the nine day engagement of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined show on the lake front grounds. It begins with a matinee tomorrow.

Among the arrivals was W. L. Carl, ground engineer, who today will stake out the site for the thirty tents of the landmark town. The entrance to the menagerie and main tent will be just over the Van Buren street viaduct.

Approximately ten acres of Grant park will be occupied by the "white tops." A. L. Webb, commissary chief, and his staff will arrive today. It will be his job to purchase supplies for feeding the show's personnel of almost 1,600 persons, 1,000 wild animals, and 700 horses.

"MAIN ST." FROM RUBBERNECK BUS IS DIME THRILLER

Jack Johnson's Home Is Best Seller.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

He's only the driver of a rubberneck wagon, but he holds all Chicago—her art and her stockyards, her fiances and her laughing beauties, her statistics and her scandals. In the hollow of his curved telephone as he shouts out bits of information to the lady from Des Moines and the couple from the provinces, on a two and one-half hour trip about the city.

The man with the information has a hard time keeping his audience to the classical. A tabloid history of the city's charitable institutions has no chance against the remark: "Here is the former home of Jack Johnson, the prize fighter."

Gaze at Gold Spoon.

John A. Logan, in bronze, to the left of Michigan boulevard, holds far less interest than a glimpse of the Blackstone dining room, to the right, where one can see how the gold coast lady handles an ice-cream fork.

It's useful, of course, to learn that automobile row is two and one-half miles long, but, for purposes of conversation, home it's better to know the length of the lace curtains in Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick's "back parlor."

Louisa Taft's majestic statue of "The Passing of Time" is noted in the album, but the blonde girl in knickers surely does not need a memorandum to recall her to mind.

Twain Ever Thus.

A slim young girl being bundled out of a patrol wagon into the Bridewell is more telling than the recital of Chicago's penal code, or the report on the number of rooms in the House of Correction.

"O, smell the bakery!" It is the first word of higher criticism on our city which the stout lady in the back seat has volunteered. At its spot-tasteful, as the night-seeing wagon moves down Garfield boulevard.

A few more turns, and the stout lady and her companions are crossing the drainage canals. Then back to sorcery with a detour past the Garfield park conservatory. "Chicago," the man with a white string tie muses, "is a city of smells."

Gum, the Builder.

Down Diversey to the drive, a chance to peer through the fences and "see how the rich live," some dripping footprints on the sandy sidewalk near the Oak street beach, some witticism which age has not been able to dim, about the architecture wrought by gum, and back into the loop.

As you climb down from the rubberneck wagon, a traffic cop yells that you've broken a rule, a taxicab flirts with your left master, and a cinder lands in your right eye. You are back in Chicago.

DOUBLE FUNERALS FOR TWO SETS OF SISTERS, DROWNED

As sequels to four drownings, two double funerals will be held in Chicago today.

Services for Mrs. Minnie Wogan, 27 years old, and Mrs. Ida Mellin, 24, sisters drowned at Barren Springs, Mich., will be held at 1853 West Park avenue, at the home of their mother, Mrs. George F. Mellin, at 2 o'clock. They will be buried together in Forest Home cemetery.

The second funeral will be that of Frieda Cohen, 19 years old, and Pearl Cohen, 14 years old, who were drowned at Union Pier, Mich. Services will be held at 3 o'clock at 311 West Roosevelt road. Burial will be in Waldheim cemetery. They were children of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cohen, 3341 West Adams street.

HAMMER SLAYER WILL BE TRIED SEPTEMBER 18

Los Angeles, Cal., July 20.—(Special.)—The trial of Mrs. Clara Phillips, alleged "hammer murderer," was set for Sept. 18 this morning after she had pleaded not guilty. She is charged with slaying Mrs. Albert Meadows, who she believed was alienating the affections of her husband, A. L. Phillips. Mrs. Phillips was taken into court early this morning that the deputies might not have to fight their way through the enormous crowds. The crowds filled the courtroom, the corridors, the lobby downstairs, and the sidewalk outside the building. One had to stand up in court to see the woman.

She was not smiling this morning. She was pale, but calm. She stood like a soldier at parade while her attorneys pleaded for her, but Woolwine demanded to know "from her own lips" what her plea might be.

"I am not guilty," she said.

Mayor of Streator to Resign; Blames Others

Streator, Ill., July 20.—(Special.)—Dr. C. G. Reno, mayor of Streator, surprised his fellow commissioners last night by announcing his intention to resign. He gave as the reason for his action the lack of cooperation from his associates.

Boy Hurt by Pageant Bomb Dies in Hospital

Thomas Murray, 11 years old, 4319 Park avenue, who was injured Wednesday night by the explosion of a bomb during a Pageant of Progress parade at 3510 West Madison street, died last night in the Robert Burns hospital. His skull was fractured by a missile from the explosive.

Senator McCumber [N. D.], chairman of the finance committee, undertook to defend the committee duties, declaring that they were not excessive in view of the condition of the glove industry and the high prices charged by retailers for cheap German gloves.

PRINTING FIRMS FIGHT MOONSHINE TO PROTECT MEN

Seek to Vacate Loop
Building as Peril.

Because the drinking of moonshine is said to be threatening the printing art in Chicago, the local branch of the Typothetae, representing 400 employing printers, has declared war on the "sale of all booze that has not been taxed by age."

But the employing printers are behind a gigantic drive against makers and dispensers of moonshine because of the damage to the printing art.

At the hearing yesterday in the court of Judge George T. Page, where the case was being made to vacate the six-story Peacock building at State and Madison streets, the government attorneys, aided in four parts of the building, have yielded poisonous liquor of the house made variety.

Death After Drinking.

After hearing evidence against Henry F. Amelung and his wife, Anna, who sold a $200,000 lease on the building, Judge Page continued the case till tomorrow morning.

One of the principal witnesses against the Amelungs is William C. Hollister, whose son, William Jr., died in the building on April 7 after he had taken several drinks of liquor alleged to have been purchased from Amelung.

Mr. Hollister said, "As a matter of fact, my activity against the Amelungs has been attributed entirely to the fact that my son died in their place after he had been poisoned with moonshine."

Mr. Hollister said, "As a matter of fact, my activity against the Amelungs has been attributed entirely to the fact that my son died in their place after he had been poisoned with moonshine."

Not "Reform Move."

"The employing printers' campaign against moonshine is not a 'reform movement' in the generally accepted sense of the term. It is one of business protection, which has been found necessary by such big printers as James McNally, Fred J. Riley, Charles S. Peterson, Edward F. Hamm, Jerome Cox, and Fred A. Poole, all of whom are serving on our committee."

"Moonshine runners have been preying upon our printers, particularly those on night shifts. Moonshine always affects vision first, and that has brought havoc to printing, particularly color work. Almost daily matters of dollars' worth of color work had to be thrown out. What were supposed to be appetizing hams looked like spoiled meat, elegant cloth reproductions became faded pictures of age—all traceable to distorted vision due to moonshine."

Regular "Moon" Routes.

"Many of our 400 members disliked first to place themselves in the light of moralists, but when the moonshiners began establishing regular routes through the big printing houses the need of concerted and far reaching action became apparent."

"We are getting splendid cooperation from C. W. Middlekauff, assistant attorney general, Prohibition Director Charles A. Gregory, and other federal authorities, and if we succeed in having the Amelung establishment closed for a year our action will be made an example in proceeding against many other similar places now thriving in the great printing centers of Chicago."

During the hearing yesterday a prohibition agent testified he had purchased whisky from Mrs. Amelung in her restaurant at 25 cents a "shot."

Testimony also revealed liquor had either been purchased or found in the hotel office, in a room on the second floor, and in the rear of the first floor.

FILM FOUNDRIES BIND POETS, SAYS YE LADY EDITOR

"Modern poets: Stay away from the movies," warns Harriet Monroe, editor of "Poetry," who yesterday declared that movie romance is always built on the same pattern.

The regulation clutch, the steepled close-up; the standardized pretty girl and handsome man—these are a few of the sins of the film, according to Miss Monroe, who admitted that city dwellers have an opportunity to see "free romance."

But the movie is not the only foe of the new poet. Hot and cold running water, fountain pens, eight day clocks, three act plays, fourteen line sonnets and two thousand word stories are a few of the snares modern civilization is laying for the versifier who would be individual.

"The country," Miss Monroe charges, "is becoming too much standardized in everything. What we need is room for the creative genius of the people to get to work. Everything is made to order for them now."

DEFENSE BEGINS IN TROTTER CASE; PLAINTIFF RESTS

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 20.—[Special.]—Eather Nelson and Ellen Landgren, girls of the city rescue mission, were in love with Melvin A. Trotter, superintendent, in the opinion of Mrs. Trotter, according to Phoebe Marshall Haines, for thirteen years a maid in the Trotter home.

Mrs. Haines was the first witness for the defense, the plaintiff having rested its case after reserving the right to introduce witnesses later.

Mrs. Trotter said Eather was too fresh; that she made eyes at Mr. Trotter, and that when singing she would roll them around at him, the witness testified.

"She said Ellen was too fresh; that she would go down to the mission just to be with Mr. Trotter."

Sunday night quarrels during the summer of eight and nine years ago at their cottage were frequent, Mrs. Haines said. They would begin, she said, when Mrs. Trotter would accuse the girls of following her husband around. Trotter would deny the accusations and then Mrs. Trotter would name them and include the Nelson and Landgren girls.

CALL MOYNIHAN TO TESTIFY IN SCHOOLS CRAFT

State Trade Commission Member Is Cited.

PATRICK H. MOYNIHAN.

Subpoenas calling for their appearance today before the grand jury to testify in regard to alleged irregularities in the conduct of school board affairs under the Davis-Severinghaus regime were issued yesterday for Patrick H. Moynihan, member of the Illinois commerce commission, and prominent in city hall politics, Miss Margaret Haley, president of the Chicago Teachers' federation, and Charles Ward of the Fitzgerald Boiler works.

Others who are expected to testify are: Chief Edwards, head of the bureau of efficiency; Hart Hanson, board trustee; Thomas Fitzgerald, head of the Fitzgerald Boiler works; John Howatt, chief engineer of the board, and James O'Leary, president of the Acme Steam Heating and Ventilating company.

Moynihan is president of the Hlathwa Phonograph company, which is said to have sold 398 phonographs to the board of education at a cost of $127 each. Ward and Fitzgerald are wanted for questioning in regard to a $120,000 order for boilers filled by their company, several of the boilers now sitting in a vacant lot for lack of necessity to install them. Ward is reported to be out of the city.

Howatt, it is said, will tell the jurors of a recent trip of inspection which he made with Edwin S. Davis, former president of the board, to view these boilers. O'Leary's company has been handed school board contracts worth thousands of dollars.

Trustees Testify.

Yesterday's witnesses included four board trustees, department heads and clerks. They were: Trustees Dr. Sadie Ray Adair, Francis E. Crokin, Dr. H. Klarkowski and J. Lewis Coath; John A. Guilford and John Byrne of the business department, and Miss Ada Ketchum, Miss Marie Lape and Miss Alice Clement of the law department; and Mortimer Flynn of the Pottinger-Plynn Coal company.

They were taken before the panel by Assistant State's Attorney E. S. Hodges. Not content with listening passively, the jurors themselves, it was said, took a hand in the proceedings and asked many questions. Though Mr. Hodges refused to make a statement, it was learned from another quarter that besides gathering up loose ends of evidence left from the first phase of the investigation, the

REFUSES TO TALK

Miss Helen Carey, 22 years old, held by police after a notebook containing the names of Paul Collisimo and Terrance Druggan had been found in her handbag. Police believe she may have been the mysterious young woman connected with numerous cases credited to the notorious "Valley gang." The girl refuses to talk, saying: "I will never say a word about Druggan and his friends."

Two questions of the boiler purchases and the board's coal dealings, which will occupy today's session, were taken up.

Bither Hit Again.

Mr. Hodges refused to state whether indictments would be voted or whom they would hit if such were the case, but it is rumored that among other indictments will be additional ones against William A. Bither, board attorney who resigned last Tuesday, and H. W. Kaup, real estate dealer, who are already charged with graft in connection with school board land deals.

C. C. Le Porge, chief counsel for Gov. Small during his trial at Waukegan, has been retained as counsel for Bither and for any others who may be involved in the state's attorney's investigation.

Two Physicians Cleared of Former Co-ed's Death

Physicians who attended Mrs. Mildred Stewart, 22 years old, 6449 University avenue, former University of Chicago student, were exonerated yesterday by a coroner's jury when it was decided that Mrs. Stewart's death on July 2 was due to internal disorders and not to an illegal operation. The physicians, Dr. Albert R. Ransil, 6342 Ellis avenue, and Dr. Samuel Clayton, 159 East 111th street, testified that they were called to attend Mrs. Stewart only after effects of an alleged illegal operation had become apparent.

GUARD NOT ON DUTY, AUTOIST KILLED BY TRAIN

A Chicago and Alton flyer struck a closed car driven by Fred M. Reed at the Stephen street crossing in Lemont yesterday and carried driver and car a quarter mile before it came to a stop. Reed, department manager for the Western Electric company in Lemont, was killed instantly.

He was returning from Chicago after purchasing supplies for a vacation trip and drove onto the crossing, which is partially hidden by houses, directly in front of the train.

Bankers' Hours.

Witnesses who will appear today at the inquest declared that they heard no whistle and that the crossing was unguarded. The only watchman, they say, comes on duty at 10 a. m. and works until 6 p. m., while many of the fast passenger trains come through before 10 a. m. Two persons were killed at the same crossing six months ago, according to E. H. O'Brien of Lemont, who took charge of the wrecked car and body.

Coroner Hoffman ordered an investigation. He declared that proper protection in the form of gates and watchman will be demanded if it is found that the dead driver was not at fault. Mr. Reed leaves a wife and two children in Lemont.

Tragedy Averted.

Another automobile tragedy was averted yesterday by the quick action of Sgt. B. Cronin of the Grand Crossing police station, who leaped into 75th street and caught Charles Beatty, 6 years old, from under the wheels of a heavy truck. The child was thrown in front of the truck when a street car struck the automobile in which he was riding. Mrs. Kate Churdiak, 6920 South Peoria street, driver of the car, and Virginia Beatty were also thrown to the street, but escaped with slight injuries.

Isaac Gold, 4221 Broadway, and his brother, Lewis, 4432 Magholla avenue, were driving together in a car and collided with a sedan driven by Mrs. J. Casriel, 528 Belmont avenue. The accident happened at Grace street and Sheridan road. Mrs. Casriel's car was overturned.

Boy Is Killed.

John Foris, 7 years old, 2239 West 18th street, was instantly killed last night when he was struck by an automobile truck owned by Riha Cartage company, 2117 South Spaulding avenue, and being driven by Roy King, 3659 South Kedzie avenue. The boy was crossing South Western avenue at West 17th street.

Thrift means a higher standard of living without added expense, the dignity of serving oneself, and domestic independence.

"The burdensome duties of housekeeping"

IN two matters that go to the very heart of things economic and social America stands in the forefront.

Economy and efficiency have become a passion with those in the industrial and business world. On every hand is the demand for the conservation of human labor and the employment of the machine to do the work that once was manual.

In political and social life the interests of women have been advanced as they have nowhere else in the world.

But in strange contrast to these advances in the business world and the political and social sphere, there has been an almost tragic neglect in the installation of instruments of economy in the burdensome duties of housekeeping.

In thousands and thousands of homes where automobiles are owned women are still doing their chores after the manner of our grandmothers, and literally wasting precious hours in menial services that take their toll in impaired health and premature old age.

When a washing machine will do a family laundry in an hour, the old back-breaking tub and board should be but a relic of a past age.

And these things will come to pass. As the question of home economics is better understood, and the many appliances now on the market are more generally used, the housekeeping methods of the future will be as different as is the travel of today from that of our father's time.

Breakfast will be prepared right at the table with percolator, grill, toaster and other appliances. There will be no broom and dustpan, no dishpan, no ironing board, and no hot stove in the summer days.

The vacuum cleaner will do its dustless sweeping in a few minutes at the same time that the dishwashing machine cleans, dries and sterilizes the dishes. The week's ironing will be done on the ironing machine in little more than an hour. Mother will run her sewing machine with a little motor, while all summer long a revolving fan will keep her cool.

Then there will be countless hours for women to give to the many pleasures and social obligations that the order of the olden day denied her.

Then, too, housework will have attached to it a dignity that does not obtain in the mind of the modern woman.

The woman who would not readily admit her slavery to the wash tub will rather boastfully tell of the ease and efficiency with which her washing machine turned out the laundry; just as the man of the house who would not care for his own horse in the bygone days will describe with pride today his mastery of the details of his automobile and of his ability to care for it himself.

Speed the day when the instruments of home drudgery will be as obsolete as the kitchen cistern pump and the kerosene lamp!

MICHIGAN WIFE NAMES CHICAGO GIRL IN SUIT

Benton Harbor, Mich., July 20.—(Special.)—The name of Florence McCausland and the Stratford hotel, Chicago, are frequently referred to in suit for divorce brought in behalf of Mrs. Marie Meta Jacobs today.

Mrs. Jacobs is the wife of Henry W. Jacobs, wealthy resident of Hagar township.

The bill alleges that Florence McCausland was found in company of the defendant in the Stratford hotel in February, 1920, and that the defendant brought her to his home in Riverside, Mich., last December and "entertained" her to the flagrant disregard of his wife. Mrs. Jacobs says she found Mrs. McCausland and her husband on one occasion at the Stratford, and that the woman told Mrs. Jacobs she was Jacobs' common law wife and refused to give him up.

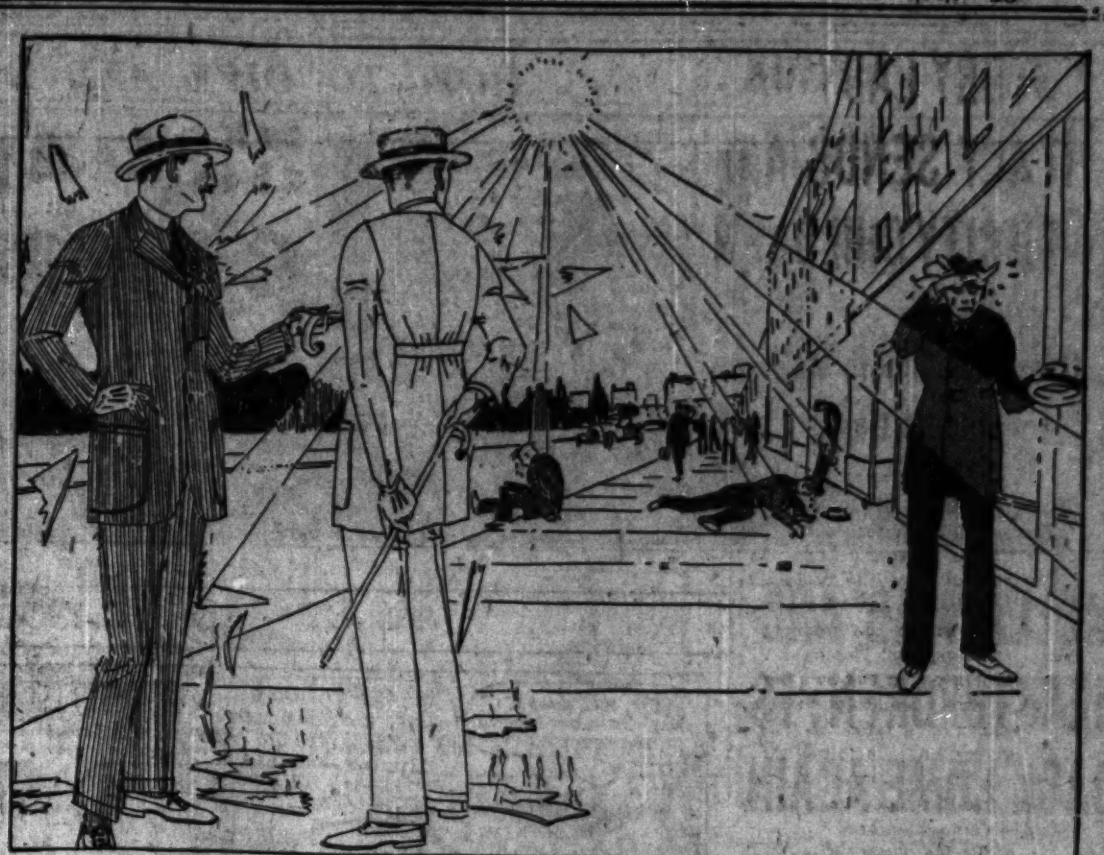

Jacobs is said to have a yearly income of $50,000.

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO DELAYED BY LAND POLICY

Washington, D. C., July 20.—Administration officials were authoritatively represented today as being desirous that the Mexican government take whatever steps necessary to make effective the expressed policies of President Obregon on questions which are impeding recognition of that government.

It was declared the situation was entirely clear as to the relations between the two countries and fully understood by Adolfo de la Huerta, Mexican minister of finance, as a result of his recent conversations with President Harding and Secretary Hughes.

Continuance of the present situation is fraught with possibilities of incidents which might develop into less friendly relations between the two governments, particularly in view of the application of the Mexican agrarian policy to the land held by Americans under valid titles in Mexico.

Foolish Man!
Sweltering in heavy wool clothes!
He could get a cool, stylish summer suit practically FREE—
If he'd order his Royal-Tailored Fall suit NOW!

Pay for 1; get 2!

—A custom-tailored Palm Beach
—A three-piece Business Suit

HERE'S a tailoring sale, so big in its value-giving, that it seems almost too good to be true. So, instead of giving you mere exuberant talk about it, let's get down to the concrete facts and figures.

July and August are "knock-off" months in the tailoring business—when most tailor shops mark time—waiting for the Fall season.

But not the Royal Shops. We never halt or lessen production—even though we run at a loss in slack seasons. For there's a big cash value to us, in holding our organization intact; in keeping the personnel of our shops keyed up to full tension efficiency the year around.

To accomplish this result in July and August, we're going several steps further than we've ever gone—not only manufacturing at cost, but taking a loss on every Summer sale, to make our great shops hum!

Here's the Astounding Proposition!

While this sale lasts, we'll tailor to your order at $40, the quality and calibre of a made-to-measure suit that you could not duplicate elsewhere for less than $50. That's a $10 saving right there.

And on top of that, we'll include a finely tailored, built-to-measure Palm Beach suit—without a penny of extra cost. The Palm Beach comes to you with our compliments.

You get a stylish, custom-made, three-piece suit selected from our best Spring and Summer fabrics, or from our advance purchases for next Fall. A genuine $50 custom-tailor value—and a Palm Beach besides—both for $40—both tailored to order!

We cannot guarantee to hold this offer open for any definite length of time. We will accept only enough business on this basis to keep our shops busy.

If, therefore, you want the greatest clothes value you have ever had—at any time, before, during or after the war—get your hustle shoes on now—and place your order!

HOW TO DIVE AND DIVE PROPERLY IS SHOWN IN TRIBUNE'S DAILY LESSONS

MOLLA 'MAD' AND HEARTBROKEN; IS BACK HOME AGAIN

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—Mollie Mallory, the famous diver and actress, who has been in the headlines of the world, and heartbroken, according to friends, over her defeat at the hands of Suzanne Lengien at Wimbledon, Mrs. Mallory returned to the Homeric today.

Mrs. Mallory said that interviews attributed to her were "maudlin, ridiculous, false and absurd."

She denied that she had ever cast reflections upon the ability of Mlle. Lengien or that she had protested against the playing of the match late in the day.

The grief of the American champion was apparent when she first appeared on deck. She refused to talk with the newspaper men. Dean Mathey, the former Princeton star, finally intervened.

Denies Quarrel with Suzanne. Mrs. Mallory denied she had engaged in any quarrelsome exchange of words over the net with Suzanne, or that she had demanded a return match.

"Remember, we're not children," she said. "We're grown people, and we do not quarrel."

When shown statements hinting that her husband had bet $10,000 on her chances at Wimbledon, Mrs. Mallory lost her temper for a moment.

"You ask him about that and he'll kick you out of the office," she said. "Later she denied that he had bet any money on the match."

At first Mrs. Mallory declined to say anything about the match. She referred interviewers to Mr. Mathey for a statement. A reporter asked:

"Won't you say that Mlle. Lengien is the greatest woman tennis player?"

Mrs. Mallory's dark eyes glinted. "How can I say that?" she asked bitterly. This ordeal of words plainly was worse than the bombardment of Suzanne's well placed shots.

Abuses Newspapers. "The newspapers are the dirtiest, filthiest things that ever happened and certainly I have a better chance on the court than I have in the newspapers," she continued.

She faced the semicircle of interviewers with flashing eyes. "I went over there and was beaten. You all know that. I don't know anything about tennis anyway."

She was asked about the possibility of Mlle. Lengien coming to the United States for another match.

"She won't come over here," Mrs. Mallory said with assurance.

Then Mrs. Mallory and Mr. Mathey arose and walked a little way to one side. They held a brief conference and returned.

Mrs. Mallory, it seemed, had decided to retract what she said about the newspapers being the dirtiest, filthiest things that ever happened.

But really, she said, "she" was getting a square deal from the papers. "She" clapped her hands together as if in prayer, and raised her eyes to the ceiling in ironic pantomime. Then, as if reciting a Sunday school lesson, she said:

"I think Mlle. Lengien is the most marvelous tennis player in the world. I swear it on the Bible."

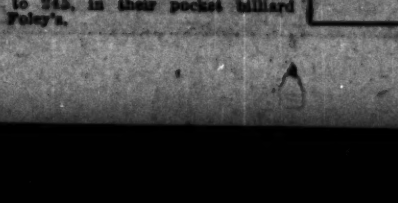

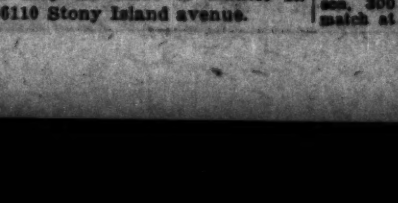

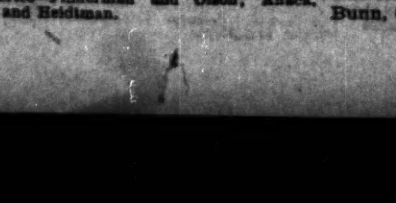

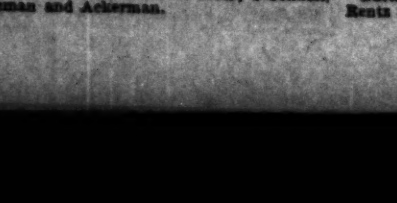

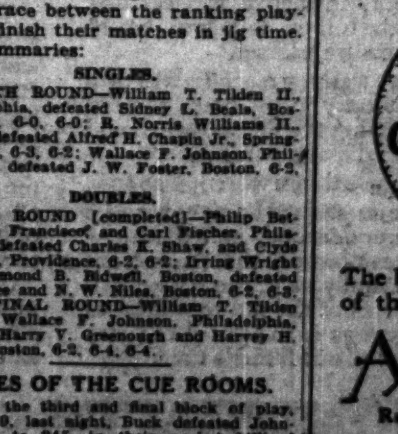

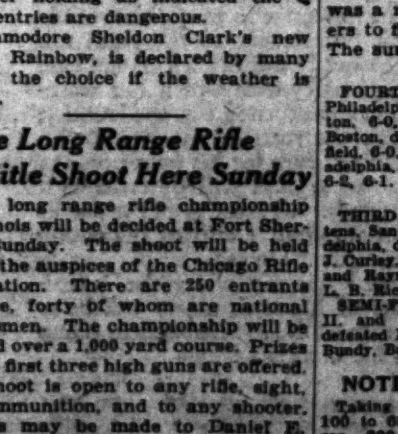

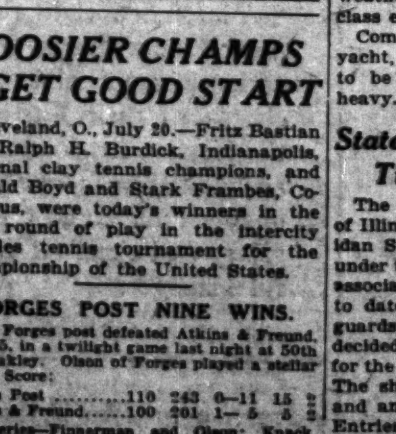

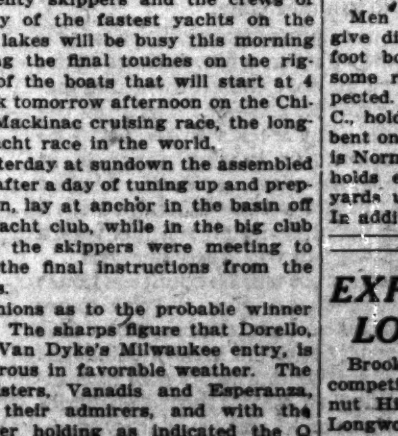

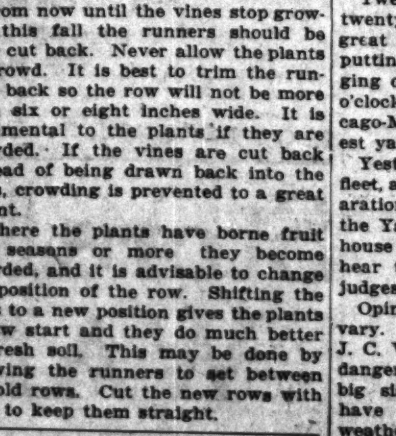

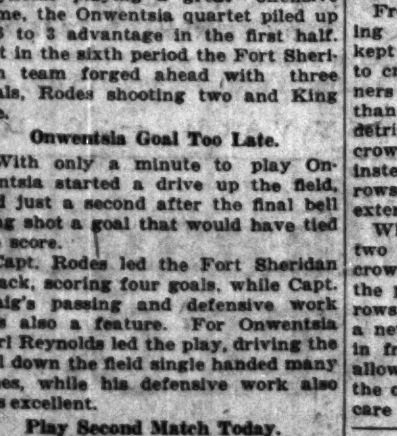

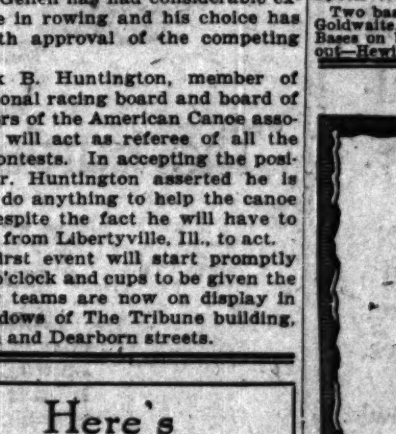

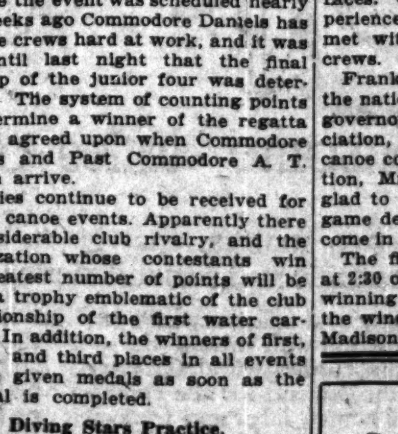

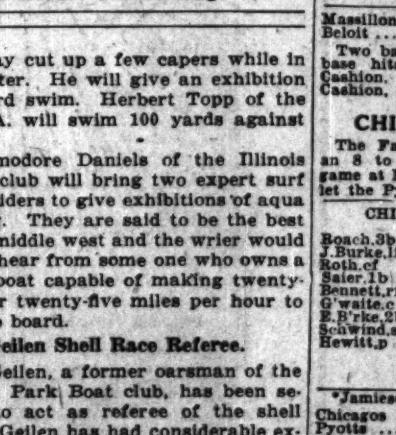

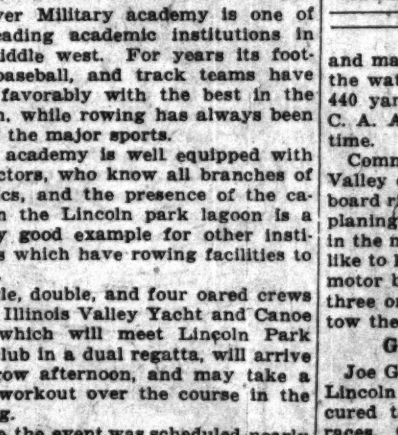

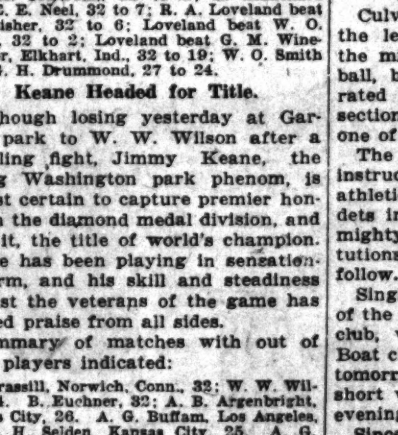

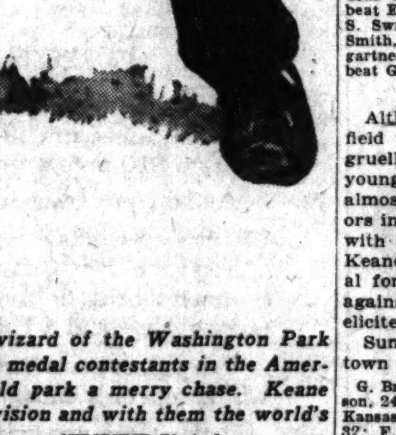

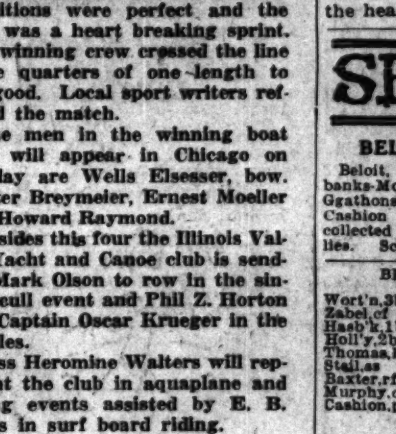

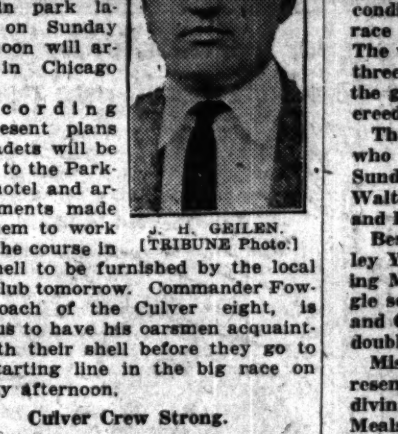

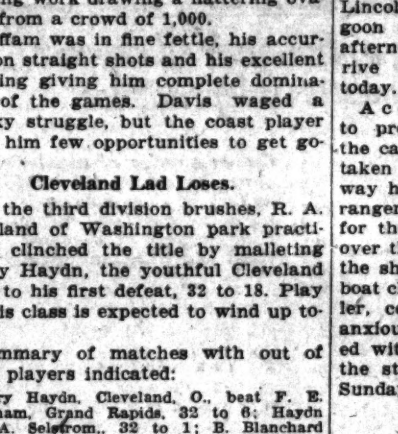

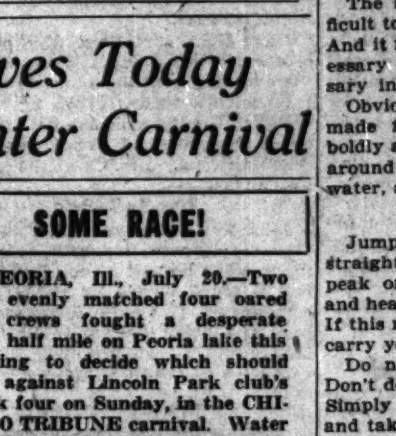

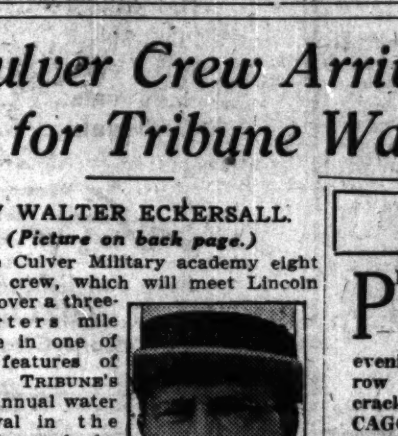

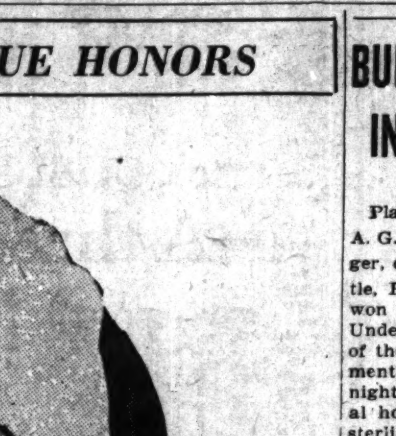

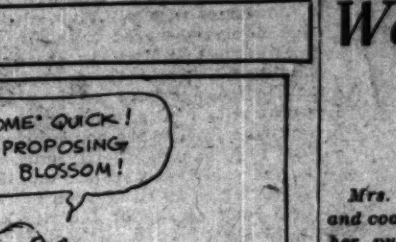

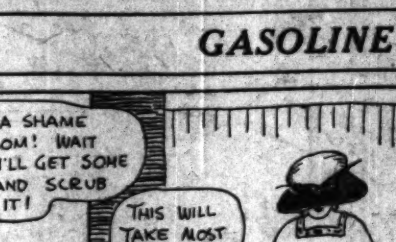

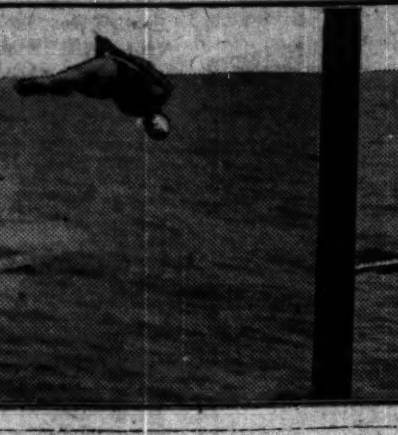

"Is that what you want?"

"We only wanted your honest opinion," one of the reporters replied. "Whichever, Mrs. Mallory said there had been so many stories in the papers she was afraid to talk, and the interview was closed."

MRS. JONES PLAYS MRS. LETS TODAY FOR GOLF TITLE

PAIRINGS FOR TODAY

CHAMPIONSHIP.
Mrs. Lett Jones, Olympia Fields, and Mrs. C. Lett Jones, Chicago.

SECOND FLIGHT.
Mrs. W. W. Weather, Evanston, and Mrs.
A. A. Upton, Glen View.

THIRD FLIGHT.
Mrs. E. C. Lord, Indian Hill, and Mrs.
A. Taylor, Westmont.

FOURTH FLIGHT.
Mrs. E. E. Harwood, South Shore, and Mrs.
C. E. Harwood, Indian Hill.

BY HUGH FULLERTON.
Mrs. Lett Jones, titleholder, and Mrs. C. Lett Jones, challenger, will meet this morning over the Indian Hill course to settle the question of the women's golf championship of Chicago.

Due to rather hazy weather, the match will be played over the valiant runner-up who crumpled up in the final test,
the old rival, Mrs.
C. Lett Jones, who won the title in 1919.

club who have
Dexter Cummings.

Miller, who was helped to make golfing his card tied the score of the 8,449 yard
court and was well complicated, as he has three birdies and was twice over par.

A six at the final

THE GUMPS—THAT'S TELLING HIM SOMETHING, LADY

MULLEN PLANS TEST CASE OF BOXING LAW

Jim Mullen, matchmaker for Aurora A. C., which intends to stage its next show on July 28 with Eddie Mandell of Rockford and Eddie Anderson of Moline the principals in the main event will make a test case of the Illinois state boxing law.

According to an opinion handed down yesterday
by Michael I. Igoe, member of the state legislature, former University of Illinois attorney, and one of the leading lawyers in Chicago, boxing as conducted at Aurora is within the law.

In a letter to Promoter Mullen Mr.
Igoe says:

"Referring to the telegram recently received from the General Brandage by the Aurora Ministerial alliance wherein complaint is made concerning the athletic contests conducted by you in the vicinity of Aurora, you are advised that the men who have made the complaint are apparently carried away with the idea that 'prize-fighting' are being conducted at your athletic field. Of course, nothing could be further from the truth. The complaint of the ministers refers to certain sections of the Illinois criminal code. The sections to which reference is made have to do with 'prizefighting' and 'boxing or sparring exhibitions'.

Law Enacted in 1889.
"This law was enacted in 1889 at a time when 'prize fighting' was in vogue, and when men engaged in a brutal contest with their bare knuckles, the survivor to be the winner, without regard to the length of the contest, was in vogue. It was the fight to the finish, and at the end of such an event the winner was given a prize, usually based upon a percentage of the receipts, while the loser had to content himself with little or nothing. The law was enacted to prevent 'prize fighting' as thus defined.

"Another section of the same law prohibits 'sparring or boxing exhibitions.' An example of what is the law is provided in the following language: 'Any person who shall travelled all over the world giving boxing or sparring exhibitions. He would exhibit his prowess with sparring partners, to all who cared to pay to see the performance. Such exhibitions are a violation of the law.

Athletic Contests Immune.
"But while 'prize fighting' and 'boxing or sparring exhibitions' as thus defined come within the provisions of the law, the law covers nothing else.
The contests which you conduct are neither 'prize fighting' nor 'boxing or sparring exhibitions.' The contestants engage in an athletic contest under a contract which strictly provides the physical condition in which they must present themselves, and the manner in which they must compete, and the compensation they will receive for such services, which compensation is at all dependent upon the result of the contest. The contestants are not professional players, are employed in the same manner. I do not believe you are violating the provisions of the law quoted above."

Boxing Notes.
CHARLEY WHITE, local boxer, is going to make one more attempt to bring the lightweight championship to Chicago. Charley yesterday received positive word from Rickard that he will be matched to meet the winner of the Benny Leonard-Jewey Tender match to be held in Jersey City on July 27.
Rickard will match White with the vic-

TREACHEROUS LOVE BY BARRETT WILLOUGHBY

SYNOPSIS.
Shane Boreland, a prospector crisscrossing up the Alaskan coast in his own schooner, the Black Hawk, arrives at Ketchikan. He and his wife, Ellen, and their little son, and Ellen's sister, Mary, are welcomed by Paul Hildreth, the agent of the Alaska Fur and Trading Company. Kilbuck, a strong but unscrupulous man, as known up and down the coast of Alaska as the White Chief.
Boreland's interest is aroused by Kilbuck's tales of a lost island, the name of which, rumor has it, is Shane's Island. This mysterious island is supposed to be the site of a small uninhabited strip of land thirty miles off the coast of Ketchikan. At the same time Boreland's adventurous blood is profoundly stirred, and he decides to visit the island.
Kilbuck encourages the prospector in this project, although he knows that Kilbuck is nothing more than a barren island completely surrounded by dangerous reefs and shoals and surrounded by ships as a death trap. He is tired of the active women of his household, and Ellen's beauty and courage have fired his imagination. He desires to get rid of her husband, but Ellen upsets all his carefully laid plans by refusing to remain behind at Ketchikan, and with Jean and her young son, Loll, goes with her husband to the island.
Gregg Harlan, the trading company's bookkeeper at Ketchikan, captivated by the charm of Ellen, makes the trip with the expedition to the island. He intends to return on the Black Hawk to Ketchikan after the Borelands have been landed, but through an accident the boat goes back without him. Kilbuck has persuaded the Borelands against young Harlan by telling him a story of a woman, and his presence worries Ellen. Gregg, sensing Ellen's antipathy, makes every effort to win the older woman's friendship and approval and win her in spite of his inclination, from paying court to Jean.
The party has only a six weeks' supply of food, as Kilbuck had promised to bring the Black Hawk back to the island within that time with the winter supplies. Ellen has reason to suspect the White Chief of treachery, and now that the Borelands are overboard, she is almost despair.
A small quantity of gold is found in the sands on the beach.

INSTALLMENT XII.

ELLEN GUARDS THE PIGEON.

Over the island these birds called with squawking, their wide wings seeming to wave a contemptuous good-by. It was as if they scorned, yet pitied the human creature below who must stay behind because she had no wings to bear her away.

The last call dimmed and died. Despite the lazy swash of the swells on the beach below the sunny afternoon was heavy with silence. Ellen's eyes swept the vast circle of the distance. The smoke of the south bound steamer was no more. Far down the tundra toward the cliffs stood the lone tree of Ketchikan, facing the sea like a waiting woman with long, wind-blown hair. An appalling sense of loneliness flooded Ellen. A sudden, overwhelming need for human companionship swept her. She turned hastily into the trail that led down to the cabin—then checked herself, as the sound of some one whistling came to her, she glanced back.

Walking briskly toward her along the tundra trail that led from his hut to the Lookout came Gregg Harlan. He must recently have borrowed Shane's razor, for the soft, dark beard that had shadowed his face was gone. Bare-headed, he advanced swingingly, vigorously, his chin up, his whole figure the personification of youth, confidence, and a new strength. For the first time Ellen was glad to see him. As she waited for him to approach she studied him with interest. He had changed much since his landing on Ketchikan. Under the rigors of hardship, of physical labor, of abstinence, he had developed a clean cut masculinity that was strangely reassuring. She remembered how unconsciously during these last weeks she had turned to him for the steadiness which others had lacked; how instinctively she had counted on him for a perception of the little things, the smaller needs, which are so often the greater ones. After all, she reminded herself, in the day by day stress of life, it was this gift of understanding, of sympathy with the innate needs, that counted so tremendously.

She pictured Jean, with her warm emotions, her love of the finer beauties of life, thrown into the rough and changing currents of existence, as the wife of a man older, sturdier, perhaps, than Gregg, but without his staid gentleness. Ellen shrank instinctively from the thought. And Gregg had changed—of that there was no doubt. There was no longer a sign of his old subservience to the poisonous brew of Kathleen; instead there was every evidence that he was not another man, but a greater, stronger way, the man he had once been.

After all, Ellen thought, who was she to determine for Jean the sort of man the girl should choose—she who had permitted herself compromising entanglements with such a one as the White Chief? With Gregg Jean was safer at that moment than she was in her own tragic situation—safer and clearer in her motives! With something of appeal for the steady power of his friendship in her need, whose eventualities would be a warmth to Jean as to herself, Ellen turned with a new warmth in her manner to greet the young man. Discussing the phenomenon of the bird migration, she went with him down the trail to the cabin.

As they approached the house Lollie came rushing up from the beach, holding something tightly in his little hand. He was shouting excitedly, and at his urging the family gathered curiously around him to find something electrified at the disclosure of what the youngster held. It was a nugget, fully an ounce in weight! He had found it, he explained, on the beach below Bear Paw Lake.

Boreland went off immediately to prospect with Kayak Bill and Harlan. Contrary to all previous experience, this gold had not been uncovered by a storm—there had been no storm. There must be a place where the yellow metal lay otherwise revealed. Somewhere on the island must be a mine of gold. Harlan, who had spent an inattentive year at a school of mines before he was requested to leave, began to take an interest in the situation.

Shane returned that night long after the others, without having found another sign. Nor was he any more successful, when day after day he continued to patrol the beaches, though his faith in the sands of Ketchikan remained unshaken.

Ellen and Shane were returning one afternoon from Skeleton Rib, where they had gone to look for pay sand. He had recovered the use of his sprained wrist and had brought along the shotgun. Opposite the little lake in this vicinity they turned in from the beach. A drizzling rain had begun to fall. The dead yellow grass lay flat on the ground. The bare brown branches of the alders were hung with drops of water which fell, wetting Ellen as she brushed through them. Out on the lake she caught glimpses of a flock of belted mallards, but since there was now no upstanding vegetation it was difficult for the hunters to hide their approach. Crouching low behind an alder Ellen watched Shane creep up within shooting range. Since the gun was an old thing held together by copper wire and went off at the slightest jar it was impossible to carry it loaded. Shane paused, inserted the shells, raised the piece and took careful aim. There came a loud report, a whirr of wings, and the next instant Shane fell backward, one hand flung upward to his head.

Ellen sprang to where he lay motionless, blood streaming down one side of his face. Even in her anguish she noted that the gun barrels had burst from the force of overloaded shells. Swiftly she plunged her handkerchief into the water and, uttering incoherent entreaties and endearing names, began to bathe his face.

For what seemed a long time Shane did not move. Frantically she tore a strip from her lawn chemise and bound up his head to stop the flow of blood. Then with all her strength she sought to raise him from the grass. His head fell limply back, exposing his bare, brown throat to the falling rain.

"Shane! Shane! O, help me, dear! Please!" Cold fear gripped her and made her voice shrill. She struggled once more to raise his heavy body. She was unable to lift him. Calling him, imploring him, she tried again and again, until at last he sat up slowly, groaning and putting both hands to the bloody bandage about his head.

"Come, dear—" her voice broke—"you are hurt." With shaking hands she tried to assist him. "We must go home, Shane. Come now." As if he were a child she coaxed and encouraged the stunned man until he rose painfully, away, and steadied himself against her. After a lurching step or two he managed to keep his feet, and in silence that struck to her heart he suffered her to lead him along through the soft, drizzling rain.

Ellen found only Harlan at the cabin. Without a question the young man sprang to her assistance. He helped Shane into the house and to bed. The last of the antiseptic had been used for Kibuck. Ellen ran for the clear water from the hardwood ashes—the Indian antiseptic which Kayak Bill had insisted her to make, and while she held the basin Harlan washed the blood from her husband's face. The sight of the wound sickened her. Just below Shane's right eye was a livid gash two inches long.

THORNE BLOCKS SETTLEMENT IN MOTHER'S SUIT

"Not Another Cent for Camp," His Edict.

Testimony bearing on intimate details of the romance that led to the marriage and the subsequent divorce of Mrs. Katherine Gordon Thorne, widow of the late vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co., and William C. "Billy" Camp, bond salesman "de luxe" and "man about town," is expected as a result of a settlement of the suit to effect a settlement out of court of Mrs. Thorne's $150,000 trust fund gift to Camp.

While attorneys for each of the principals denied making the first offer of settlement, it was learned, following the abrupt closing of yesterday's hearing before Master in Chancery Edwin A. Munger, that Camp asserted his willingness to "accept" $175,000 and let the affair be a "closed incident."

Agreed to Give $125,000.
From an equally authoritative source it was learned that Mrs. Thorne, asked by the unpleasant publicity which attended Wednesday's hearing, in which Camp detailed several trips to eastern cities prior to their marriage, virtually agreed to give Camp a sum of $125,000, provided he would release her from the terms of the trust agreement.

Strenuous opposition to a settlement was offered by Gordon C. Thorne, son of the wealthy widow, and former associate of Camp in the brokerage business, who declared that the thought of a settlement is abhorrent. As a result of young Thorne's interference Attorney Erbein, representing Camp, asked Mr. Markheim, counsel for Mrs. Thorne, to appear before Master Munger today asking that July 24 be set as the date of the next hearing.

"Not Another Cent," He Says.
"Camp has had enough of my father's money," declared young Thorne. "He is not going to get another cent. I have talked the matter over with my mother and she feels the same as I do about it."

Rumors that serious controversy had arisen between the youth and Mrs. Thorne, who he said to be willing to settle the matter if an "equitable figure" can be arrived at, could not be confirmed last night.

"I regret exceedingly that it became necessary for me to offer the testimony which was adduced before his honor, Master Munger," said Camp last night. "But I had no choice. I was not testifying in my own behalf, but was called as 'Thorne's witness' and was compelled to make responsive answers."

Has His Sympathy, Camp Says.
"She has my deepest sympathy. I have no desire to hold Mrs. Thorne up to public shame or contempt. Personally, I have no desire to offer a settlement, but our attorneys have discussed this with no result."

In concluding, let me say that the attorneys for the Northern Trust Company, and the bank itself, the trustees in this contested agreement, certainly would not have lent themselves to any irregular act. They would not have allowed her to exercise any agreement as she had the right to be convinced that she was mentally and physically sound."

"I returned from California," Camp continued, "to fight clean, and I intend to do so as long as my duty is in now going to be a fight to the finish."

The short hearing yesterday before Master in Chancery Munger was marked by the presence of Mary Lygo, young Thorne's alleged rejected sweetheart, whose two suicidal attempts prefaced a $100,000 breach of promise suit, and also Miss Helen McGinnis, an actress, now receiving the constant attention of the young millionaire.

Mrs. Capper Also Attends.
Mrs. Frances Cullen Capper, divorced wife of Howard Capper of Capper & Capper, haberdashers, also was present as "a friend of the family" and the result of a subpoena served on her late Wednesday night.

A lengthy conference in Master Munger's chambers between the opposing counsel, at which it was decided the lawyers attempted to agree on continuances and settlements, resulted in nothing but a decision to "expurgate the testimony and expedite the hearing."

Attorney Markheim resumed examination of Camp and plunged into a quest for further details of the "love hegiras" of the couple and the incidents which preceded Camp's removal to Chicago with his body. He supposed that Mrs. Thorne's alleged rejection of her husband, and her subsequent marriage, by his questioning the "hegiras" were harmless vacation trips, conducted under the chaperonage of a close friend of Mrs. Thorne, Mrs. L. Wilbur Crane of Santa Barbara, Cal., widow of an official of the Republic Steel company.

"Do you recall, when Mrs. Thorne

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 each for questions which are accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send in your name and address with your questions to The Inquiring Reporter, Chicago Tribune. No questions will be returned. For today's question, Lena Oakes, Laura, Ill., was awarded $5.

The Question.
What is your idea of a model employer?

Where Asked.
In Lincoln park.

The Answers.
Erwin Strommer, 148 Eugene street, switchman—Henry Ford is my model for an ideal employer. He is interested in his employees, and wants them to get along well and be satisfied. The satisfied worker always gives the best service.

Miss Beulah Shuchartz, 2558 Cleveland avenue, clerk.
The model employer is businesslike. He should be considerate and helpful, when possible. I like to feel I am his partner. That helps to make the work pleasant for employee and employer.

Paul S. Houghtman, 209 East 53d street, auto salesman—He is a man who has been an employee and therefore knows how to treat his help. He is on to the ropes, and that kind of a man treats his employees as he would be treated were he still in their place.

Mrs. Evelyn Wiles, 215 South Winchester avenue—From my former experience as an employee, I think the first essential is that he be a considerate gentleman. The employer isn't the whole thing, and he shouldn't belittle his employees as too many of them do.

Frank Bongiorno, 1012 Blue Island avenue, agent—The model employer is one who starts the day with a cheerful "Good morning" and sounds the cheer note throughout the day—even to the parting "Good night." He pays a fair salary and tries to make things pleasant.

"BUDDIES' CLUB"

CALLED TO TELL VETS FUND PLAN

Prominent Names Used Minus Permission.
The Buddies' Club of Chicago, Inc., 3306 West Harrison street, has run counter to the state's attorney's office through the alleged use of the names of prominent Chicago men in soliciting funds for a Labor day barbecue for disabled veterans.

Subpoenas for the officers were issued last night, according to Assistant State's Attorney Michael Kaveney, who is investigating the club following complaint by Col. John V. Clinlin.

The club's executives will have a hearing this morning. According to their hearing, they are W. P. Lynch, president; M. C. Crouch, secretary; G. F. Walcott, treasurer; W. M. Maston, vice president; and J. Mahon and Stewart R. Gaynor, sergeants at arms.

Clinlin Talks With "Himself."
Col. Clinlin charges that not only was his name used on printed matter as a member of the Buddies' honorary committee, and in approaching his friends, but that on calling at the headquarters of the disabled soldiers' friends he talked with some one who represented himself to be Col. Clinlin.

The members of the honorary committee are listed as Brig. Gen. James E. Stuart, Judge George Kersten, Mayor William Hale Thompson, Col. A. W. Miller, J. W. Weccard, Col. John V. Clinlin, Patrick J. Carr, Robert M. Switzer, Daniel Ryan, Peter M. Hoff, Justin F. McCarthy, Dr. B. F. Crouch, and Thomas Gaynor.

Held an Outing.
J. W. Weccard, secretary of the Chicago Sharpshooters' association, stated last night that the Buddies' club used Sharpshooters' park at Palos Park on July 4 for an outing for disabled veterans from Chicago military hospitals. The grounds were donated by the association.

Robert M. Switzer, county clerk, stated that he had never given permission for the use of his name. "There seem to be two clubs with similar names," he said. "One organization came to me some time ago with proof of incorporation and I was able to give them some assistance with their problem. I was not aware I was on the honorary committee."

Aroused over the missing receipts of the "poppy tag" day, the Cook County Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced an indignation meeting for this evening.

NADINE WOLFORD; JOHN DOE NABBED; GRILLED, BAILED

Doctor's Wife Booked Under "Phony" Name.

A mystery woman in a white silk sport suit, topped by a flaming red knit sweater, held unwitting court all yesterday afternoon in the detective bureau. Rolls of currency, a prominent Woodmen doctor, a "John Doe" husband man of respectable mien, a moral investigator, and a discrepancy in police records are threaded through the tangled chain the woman held.

Early yesterday Miss W. Danenberg, formerly city morals inspector and now a private investigator; Sergt. John Noonan of the detective bureau, the woman, and "John Doe" arrived at the bureau.

Given Name "Madeline Wilburn."
For hours there was a sequence of conjecture. Finally the woman and John Doe were booked on charges of disorderly conduct and ordered to appear this morning in South Clark street court. The woman's name is given to the police as Miss Madeline Wilburn, 31, married, of 1133 North La Salle street. John Doe admitted he's 30 and claimed to be single.

Danenberg, to whom Sergt. Noonan gave credit for prompting the arrest of the pair in the loop, finally put up $100 cash bail from a large roll for the woman's release. Attorney W. P. McCracken Jr. did not serve for the man and they left the bureau.

Two minutes later Dr. Arthur P. Wolford, of the Gladstone hotel, prominent with his wife Nadine in south shore society, came into the station.

Reveals "Error" in Record.
"Has Danenberg gone?" he demanded.

"Yes," was the answer.
"Did he arrest a woman?" was the next question.

"Yes, and bailed her out," was the reply.

"That's fine," calculated the doctor, and went away.

Reporters then began to investigate and found that although Sergt. Noonan had booked his stylish prisoner as Madeline Wilburn, the name on the warrant is Nadine Wolford. The wedding of Dr. Wolford and Nadine Wiley, daughter of the late Franklin Wiley, and wealthy, of her own right, took place three years ago.

Doctor Swishes Front.
Last night over the telephone Dr. Wolford declared he would appear this morning against his wife. Later he told newspapermen that he knew nothing about the matter.

Mrs. Wolford did not return to the Gladstone hotel last night. The Wolfords had been invited to a beach party at the Chicago Beach hotel, but neither appeared.

Sergt. Noonan denied "fixing" the police slip to show a fictitious name for the woman.

Attorney Shields John Doe.
Attorney McCracken, called at his home last night, asserted that "John Doe" is a friend of his and that he would not give out his name. The man is said to be married and the father of three children. He gave the Sher-Lac hotel as his address, but it is understood that he lives at another north side hotel.

Mr. Danenberg refused to discuss the case on the ground that he could not talk without consent of his client.

Robert F. Bradburn, attorney for Dr. Wolford, stated last night that "the incident simply was a matter of domestic discord and that there would be no prosecution."

5 INDICTMENTS IN FRANKLIN SHORTAGE DUE

At least five indictments will be sought after a check of the books of the village of Franklin, where a reported shortage of nearly $50,000 exists. Assistant State's Attorney Edgar A. Jonas said he hoped to have all necessary evidence in readiness by Saturday morning.

"I doubt if the shortage will run as high as at first feared," he said.

Sentiment in Franklin Park yesterday was flung by the village board to an examination of Village President William Kirschhoff. All joined in eliminating Miss Dora Martin, former village treasurer, who is Kirschhoff's sister-in-law, from blame.

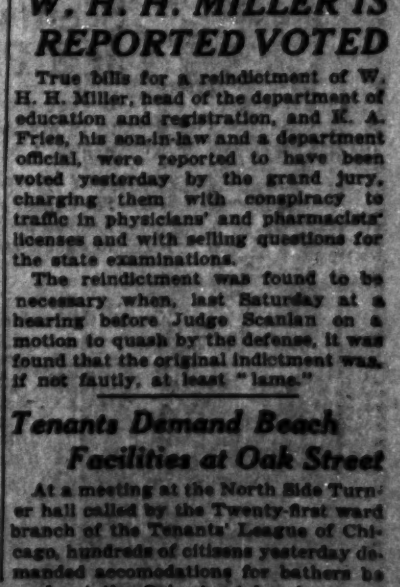

Five former directors of the defunct Franklin Park State bank are defendants in a $100,000 suit filed in the name of the bank in Superior court. The defendants are Henry G. Kirschhoff, Carl E. Kirschhoff, Gustave Kirschhoff, Herman H. Kirschhoff, all brothers of William Kirschhoff, and Thomas H. Freedman.

REINDEER OF W. H. H. MILLER IS REPORTED VOTED

True bills for a reindeerment of W. H. H. Miller, head of the department of education and registration, and K. A. Fries, his son-in-law and a department official, were reported to have been voted yesterday by the grand jury, charging them with conspiracy to traffic in physicians' and pharmacist licenses and with selling questions for the state examinations.

The reindeerment was found to be necessary when, last Saturday at a hearing before Judge Scanlan on a motion to quash by the defense, it was found that the original indictment was, if not faulty, at least "lame."

Tenants Demand Beach Facilities at Oak Street
At a meeting at the North Side Turn-of-hall called by the Twenty-first ward branch of the Tenants' League of Chicago, hundreds of citizens yesterday demanded accommodations for bathers to be made at the Oak street beach.

Cool it Feel Chairmen Chosen for Lake Geneva Estates' Exhibits

Chairmen have been selected for the committee in charge of an exhibit of flowers, fruit, vegetables, and dairy products from Lake Geneva estates, to be held next Wednesday in Horticultural hall, Lake Geneva.

Mrs. John J. Mitchell will preside at the tables; Mrs. William Wrigley will have the exhibit of cut flowers; Mrs. Walden W. Shaw, vegetables; Mrs. L. A. Carson, fruit; Mrs. A. W. Harris, dairy products; Mrs. Charles L. Harrison will supervise the "wild garden" exhibit and serve as chairman of the competition in wild flower arrangement. Mrs. Marquette Healey will supervise the general flower arrangement competition. Mrs. Simpson Chapin will have table decorations, and Mrs. James Allen and Miss Katharine Frost will conduct the food sale.

Following the showing this year all exhibits exhibited will be put up for sale and the proceeds to go to local charities and the local improvement fund. Mrs. George G. Parker of the Lake Geneva Garden club is general chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Gardner will show an apartment in town the first of October. Since their return from their wedding journey in the east they have been living in Winnetka. Mrs. Gardner was Miss C. de Winter of Winnetka, and was much fitted by Chicagoans in the Berkshires, where she spent the last week of her honeymoon as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Delano de Winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Valentine Burrows of 4425 East View Park have opened their summer place at Crystal Lake, near Frankfort, Mich., and will remain there until late September.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cuddey of 22 Banks street plan to spend the month of August at Banff and Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies.

Miss Agnes Foreman of 609 Rush street has departed for Harbor Point, Mich., where she will be the guest of Mrs. Julie Manierre Mann at the Manierre summer place.

The North Shore Garden club, of which Mrs. Julius Rosenberg is president, will have its midsummer picnic at the Lake Shore Country club on Tuesday, Aug. 22.

Mrs. C. E. Ware of Evanston and her daughter, Miss Ware, are at Petoskey, Mich., for July and August.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Brockbridge of Winnetka are at Troutdale-in-the-Moss, Evergreen, Colo.

Miss Dorothy Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. L. Curtis of Highland park, has Miss Constance Hale of Cleveland, O., as her guest. Miss Hale returned with Miss Curtis from the east, where they have been visiting school friends.

Miss Ida Ulrich and her sister, Miss Zoe Ulrich, of 4401 Woodlawn avenue, have returned from California, where they spent the winter and spring.

Mrs. David James is chairman of arrangements for a "summer party" at the Glen Oak Country club on Aug. 9.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Chadwick of Beverly Hills have returned from their summer place near Golden, Colo., but will leave for a longer stay in Colorado during the fall months.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Neumann of 1155 Michigan avenue, who have recently returned from Lake Tahoe, where they visited their daughter, Mrs. Austin Seis, have departed for California, to be gone until the middle of September.

Mrs. Edwin Foreman and Mrs. A. D. Campbell will be in charge of arrangements for a toy exhibit and sale to be held on Thursday and Friday, Aug. 9 and 10, at the Moraine hotel, in Highland park, for the benefit of the Cooperative League of children's aid. The place of assemblage is the Franklin statue, Lake Shore drive and Webster avenue. A general appeal basket dinner will be served at 5 p. m.

Mrs. Helen Farnum has joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Farnum, at their cottage at Magnolia, Wis., for the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Mayer of 6225 Woodlawn avenue, with their children, are occupying their summer place, Sunset Cottage, at Maclellan island, near the University of Chicago have gone to Bay View, Mich., for the month.

Ex-Residents to Picnic.

Former residents of Coulterville and Randolph county, Ill., who now make their homes in Chicago and the suburbs, will have a reunion in Lincoln park tomorrow afternoon and evening. The place of assemblage is the Franklin statue, Lake Shore drive and Webster avenue. A general appeal basket dinner will be served at 5 p. m.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK BY JANE EDDINGTON. Coffee Tapioca Mousse.

Always in summer the relatives of hot coffee, such as that perfection of the palate, are popular; also that more or less worthless thing, coffee, is in considerable use. Though it cannot stand twenty-four hours and be safe eating, while a coffee tapioca may be made just as stiff as a hot fudge, it is considerably used. To make this tapioca, use the coffee as a thickening and really is something just as shining and bright, it is only necessary to add the hot tapioca mixture. In fact, the straining of a tapioca made with a hot liquid may be necessary, or even one made with a cold liquid, if the straining is not constant and thorough as it cooked.

There is another fact about granulated tapioca that shows up well when it is cooked with coffee. There are always a few grains which remain rather white and uncooked, while the others become jelly-like and transparent. It is well to sieve these out.

Of course, a mousse must be nearly as smooth as velvet, therefore an uncooked tapioca mixture would not do for it. To make a small amount of coffee for two—make one cup of dried coffee, pour this over two or three teaspoons of granulated tapioca, stir well, let stand a few minutes to swell, then cook with stirring until jelly-like. Put through strainer, cool and when cold fold into it one half cup of cream whipped until dry. Put into mold and chill. The block then oblong boxes, which some army wives call "ditty boxes," and which others say are bacon boxes, cost about a fifth of what a cold costs, and are excellent and convenient for a quantity like this. Cover mixture with waxed paper before putting on the cover.

"Aida" Greeted

at Ravinia by Large Audience

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Operas may come and operas may go, but "Aida" remains a perpetual box office magnet. The assemblage at Ravinia last night looked more like a Saturday or Sunday night audience than any midweek congregation yet confronted this season.

They say that Frances Peralta's impersonation of the name part is so highly regarded at the Metropolitan that she can hold her own with any other soprano who sings it there. It is a reasonable claim. The role fits her and she it, and it is quite noticeable the best thing she has done at Ravinia this season. She goes through it with a dignified manner, her voice meets the high flown stateliness of Verdi's music.

Much the same can be alleged of Alice Gentile's Amneris; in fact she and Miss Peralta uniformly registered high points of the performance. There was also some earnest and well studied singing by Morgan Kingston as Radames, Leon Rothler as Ramfis, and Louis D'Angelo as the king. The male chorus caught the "Aida" of the night in the first scene to the extent that it began its applause on a high note before the number was finished, and then had none left when the end was reached. But the end deserved applause.

Ruth Jones, a violinist, who is said to be planning an entrance upon the professional concert stage next season, made what may therefore be described as her preliminary debut at the Ziegfeld theater yesterday morning. Apparently she will go on well equipped. She has acquired all the requisites of full bodied tone and a technique that makes light of the difficulties in her path, and she has in addition a breezy, vigorous manner of playing that is personal.

Her program would seem to have been chosen with those characteristics in mind. It included the Vitali Chaconne, the Lalo "Symphonie Espagnole," which can be successful only when the player approaches it in the attitude of treating it as a lively game, and a pair of groups of shorter pieces, some interesting, others harmless, but no doubt necessary. Because of her own energetic individuality, Miss Jones gives more promise of definite accomplishments in her artistic career than the average violinist, and this with many better good young ones in mind.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—From Paris comes the news that the drapes is done with. And it is quite true that even on this side where fashion does not travel so quickly we are seeing less of the dripping panels with which we are now so thoroughly familiarized. In place of this, newer methods of jazzing up the skirt are found in the circular model with gogets at the sides or even arranged, as Jenny does them, right in the front; of the tiered skirt or else the panel with tiers; of various new plaited drapes. However, for wear this summer one is still assured of the prestige of the rag drape and we are showing it today in a charmingly simple little frock of Rodier cotton. The background of this cotton is apricot tinted and on this are attached rows of roses in white thread. Between these motifs occur in quilted effect geometrical designs traced also in white. The bands about the short sleeves and the side drapes are carried out in plain apricot cotton.

STRIKES AT LAST AFFECT STOCKS AND PRICES DROP

YESTERDAY'S AVERAGES

	High	Low	Close
30 railroads	64.40	63.70	63.80
30 industrials	102.00	101.60	101.20
30 stocks	83.20	82.31	82.82

The New York Times

New York, July 20.—[Special.]—Prices on the stock market today turned irregular following early strength as profit taking began to make itself manifest. The close was by no means weak, but most issues were down from their high point of the day.

Temporarily, at least, there was a respite from the coal strike and the railroad strike. Both of these difficulties appeared in a fair way to be prolonged struggles between the strikers and the companies, although it is possible that a settlement may take place quickly.

It was perhaps a somewhat belated realization of the influence which the two strikes are having on industrial affairs, which induced the turning of a profit into actual cash assets. Hereafter the market has ignored the relation between industry and the strikes, but this overlooking of events was based upon the theory that some one of the difficulties would extend over a considerable period. Now the two strikes are beginning to have something of an interlocking nature, since the railroad strike has not only cut off the supply of coal to the mines, but also the supply of coal to the steel mills.

The steel stocks were bid up in the early trading today, but strength in this quarter of the list was to be accounted for by the record earnings for the second three months of the year.

Liberty Issues Up.
Four of the coupon Liberty issues today sold at new high records. The first 4 1/2% sold at a new high of 101.10; the third 4 1/2% sold at a new high of 100.70; the fourth 4 1/2% sold at a new high of 100.70; the fifth 4 1/2% sold at a new high of 100.70.

Foreign exchange was firm today, with the dollar steady at 20.80 for gold, 20.75 for silver, and 20.70 for paper. The pound was at 124.00 for gold, 123.50 for silver, and 123.00 for paper.

The Unlimited Power of Your First $5.00. Read This!

A $5 note by itself is a soldier. Hundreds of them make an army. Alone they are helpless. United they make an irresistible financial force. Bill Hassitt proved this to himself years ago and today he is a money success at thirty. Without risking one penny, denying himself one legitimate pleasure, or equipped with any special intelligence, his first $5 bought a membership in America's $5 million dollar industry.

Foresee New Revelations of Camp-Thorne Romance as Compromise Fails—Set "Hammer Murder" Trial

"Aint We Got Fun?"

WHY WOULD ANYBODY WANT TO PAY HIS BILLS? William C. (Billy) Camp, defendant in Mrs. Katherine Thorne's suit to set aside $350,000 trust fund. Compromise plan failed yesterday. (TRIBUNE Photo.)

EYE WITNESS RE-ENACTS HAMMER MURDER. Peggy Caffee tells deputy sheriff how Mrs. Clara Phillips killed supposed love rival with a hammer. Deputy seems amused. (Pettit and Atlantic Photo.)

TRAGEDY OR COMEDY? Despite the fact that Mrs. Clara Phillips is accused of brutal murder, both she and Sheriff W. J. Frazer seem to find it hard to keep from laughing. (G. R. Watson Photo.) (Times Staff Photographer.)

CAN A MURDERESS LAUGH? This photo taken of Mrs. Phillips just after she had been brought back to Los Angeles apparently answers the query in the affirmative. (Times Staff Photographer.)

ONE ARMED GOLF STAR. John S. Martin of Indian Hill featured the tourney play at Exmoor Country club yesterday by turning in a score of 77, four strokes more than the lowest card. (TRIBUNE Photo.)
